City Police...New Anti-Narcotics Step

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON

The Kingston Police Department has taken what chief Julius Glassman terms "a major step" towards battling the illicit distribution of drugs with the formation recently of its own narcotics division.

The concept, which has been tried on an experimental basis for the past year, was formally approved by the Board of Police Commissioners at its April meeting.

The program consists of officers of the Kingston Police Department working full time in the field of narcotics enforcement and education. The narcotics division will also have available the manpower and investigatory resources of both the uniformed and detective divisions of the police department.

The narcotics division has its sights set primarily on the major pushers who deal in hard core drugs, but not the exclusion of the small-time users. "If we can grab the major pushers," said Glassman, "we'll get the users too."

Apprehension of the narcotics suppliers, however, is only one facet of the narcotics division's game plan. It is Glassman's belief that to dent the illicit drug traffic that flows in and around Kingston will also help stem the rash of burglaries and petty thefts that have plagued the area in recent years. "Drugs are one of the major causes of crime," said Glassman, "the addicts have to support their habit. If we can cut down on the drug traffic, we can reduce many of the related crimes as well."

Special

Both education and enforcement will be stressed equally by the department's narcotics division. The educational angle will consist primarily of lectures and programs before schools, clubs and civic organizations.

Does the narcotics situation in Kingston warrant the full-time attention of a separate police division? "If anyone says there's no problem here," said Glassman, "they're just being foolish. Kingston has the same problem as any other city its size."

It is Glassman's contention that there are no "real big" pushers in the Kingston area, but "a lot of small ones." And they're the ones the department, through its narcotics division, is after.

The narcotics division will expend most of its energies in the investigation and surveillance of suspected narcotics pushers. When enough information is obtained to warrant an arrest, assistance will be requested from the department's patrol force or detective division.

The initial success of its operation will help determine whether the narcotics division is expanded in the future. That determination will be made at a later date.

But there is one program that Glassman is definitely interested in bringing to Kingston. TIP (Turn In a Pusher) has met with noticeable success in cities throughout the United States, with law enforcement agencies crediting it with assisting police in the apprehension of numerous drug traffickers. Glassman hopes the same results are realized in Kingston.

The program entails a telephone switchboard, the guarantee of anonymity and the promise of a sizeable reward for anyone who phones police with information that leads to the arrest and conviction of a person dealing in narcotics.

Watergate Figures Ready to Testify

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Top White House aides H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman were summoned before a federal grand jury today while FBI agents sifted through their personal files for evidence that might link them directly to the Watergate scandal.

Haldeman and Ehrlichman, who resigned Monday at the President's request, have denied they ever participated in illegal activities. But the New York Times has quoted federal investigators as saying they of FBI director last April 7, in mid-May, despite the ever-expanding grand jury probe.

The defense described it as an attempt to "bribe" the court. N. Mitchell, former White House counsel John W. Dean, who was fired Monday, and others. Mitchell's wife, Martha, was subpoenaed to give sworn testimony in New York today about the Watergate affair. She often has said that her story "relevant" to the Watergate investigation, sources said.

It also was learned that a special Senate committee investigating the Watergate has asked Attorney General-designate Elliot L. Richardson for full access to FBI files in the case.

Chairman Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., and ranking Republican Howard H. Baker Jr., of Tenn., said the committee will proceed with plans for public hearings. Leader Hugh Scott said there have been several meetings with Nixon "including speculation on which senators might not run for re-election."

Showing signs of strain during the crisis, Nixon is reported to have realized that the Haldeman-Ehrlichman duo in the White House—which shielded him from annoyances—also prevented him from receiving the facts about the Watergate for months after the June 17 bugging and break-in of the Democratic National Committee headquarters.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday Richardson, who is now handling the investigation, is free to appoint such a successor to Haldeman as chief prosecutor. But sources said the President was furious when he learned the Senate, with only five members present, had passed a resolution Tuesday calling for an independent prosecutor. A Republican, Sen. Bryce Harlow.

Without Ehrlichman as adviser for domestic affairs, Nixon has appointed Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as chairman of the Domestic Council. The White House confirmed that David Young, appointed by Ehrlichman to supervise the Pentagon Papers probe, has resigned; and Egil Krogh Jr., a former White House aide, has taken a leave of absence as undersecretary of transportation.

Large Corporations Must Give Notice

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon conceded Wednesday that food prices are still the economy's No. 1 enemy, but he rejected new controls on farm products and instead ordered a closer watch on price boosts by big business. In a statement released at the White House, Nixon said the nation's largest corporations must give the government 30 days advance notice when they want to raise prices by more than an average 1.5 per cent above the level of January 10, when the current Phase III economic stabilization program was announced. This "pre-notification" rule does not change the government's guidelines for price increases. It will, however, subject those increases to closer scrutiny by the Cost of Living Council.

In a statement released at the White House, Nixon said the nation's largest corporations must give the government 30 days advance notice when they want to raise prices by more than an average 1.5 per cent above the level of January 10, when the current Phase III prices with government stabilization officials peering over their corporate shoulders, Shultz said. April wholesale prices of farm products and most foods down. Story on page 38.

Industrial prices, which have serious long-range inflationary impact, have shown disturbing increases in the past two months. But Nixon said, "It is the cost of food, more than anything else, that now blocks the return of price stability." The Chief Executive said meat, dairy and egg production was too low. He exhorted farmers to produce more, saying this would mean faster income for them as well as lower grocery prices for consumers.

"The country needs more food, and American farmers have never failed to deliver when we needed them," the President said.

(Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-Millbrook) announced from Washington today that the House Judiciary Committee, of which he is a member, will hold hearings on the high price of food beginning early next month.

Fish said that the committee will call witnesses both from the Administration and from the food industry in a broad inquiry of possible price rigging by food companies. "I believe it essential that the American public know whether the current food price rise is really a problem of supply and demand or whether the food giants have been taking advantage of the current situation for monopolistic profits," Fish said. Fish added that he has been pushing for hearings since being contacted by housewives in his district last month.)

With inflation running at the highest rate since the Korean War, many congressmen have called for a general price rollback or a new freeze. Nixon dismissed this as "a superficially simple solution." For example, if meat prices were rolled back to January levels, "customers would not be boycotting meat today but would instead be storming the supermarkets to be the first in line for the scarce supply of meat," Nixon said.

NAACP Files Arrest Lawsuit

KINGSTON Douglas Longto and Dominic The national office of the Ausanio and another uniden. NAACP has filed a federal lawsuit with the Kingston Police Department. The plaintiffs in the suit are Kingston Police District 17-year-old Thelma Price of 97M Attorney Francis J. Vogt on Rondout Gardens and 17-year-old Ulster County District Elizabeth Waters of 83 Chapter of the NAACP and two Broadway, Miss Price was black students arrested Nov. 15, arrested Nov. 15 and charged 1972 following an altercation with third degree assault and with police at Kingston High School. Miss Waters was charged with disorderly conduct. The two girls stood relief for the two plaintiffs in trial in March and April: City the sum of $50,000 and asks for Court Judge Hubert A. The lawsuit asks for monetary conduct. The two girls stood relief for the two plaintiffs in trial in March and April: City the sum of $50,000 and asks for Court Judge Hubert A. Richter a declaratory judgment of is withholding his verdicts until temporary and injunctive relief. May 18.

Named in the lawsuit, in addition to district Attorney day in U. S. District Court. Vogt, is assistant district attorney in New York City, John T. Dall Vechia, City. Attorneys for the plaintiffs and police chief Julius Glassman, are Nathaniel R. Jones and patrolmen John Schatzel, James Meyerson of the national NAACP office in New York City School boycotted classes, pa- and Stanley Faulkner, a noted raded through the hallways and civil rights attorney who has presented a list of grievances to school administrators. Among their complaints was the absence of any black guidance counselors or administrators at the high school.

The suit maintains that the plaintiffs' constitutional rights were violated during criminal proceedings instituted by police, and alleges that "They School authorities called po- (the plaintiffs), because they are black, are being denied access to and the right of legal process against white police officers in the Kingston Police Department, and other white persons in Ulster County."

The suit also alleges that the plaintiffs were subjected to "excessive and uncalled for abuse by the police department because of race" resulting in "bodily injury" to Miss Price and Miss Waters. On Nov. 15, some 32 black students at Kingston High students.

Today, Hodge laid the blame for Wednesday's lawsuit on District Attorney Vogt. "We did everything we could to avoid this (the lawsuit)," said Hodge. "We wanted these cases negotiated." Hodge added, "We had no other alternative but to file suit."

Hodge charged that Vogt is "insensitive to the black community and black problems. He has been hostile and arrogant during these entire proceedings." Hodge said that Vogt refused to cooperate with the black community and "negotiate" the charges against the black students.

"The responsibility for this action must be placed squarely on the shoulders of the district attorney," Hodge continued. "He has a personal vendetta against the black community." He added, "Judge Richter and Chief Glassman have had their hands tied by the D.A."

Vogt and Glassman declined comment on the lawsuit.

Today, Hodge said the NAACP is also contemplating filing suit against the Kingston Consolidated School District on behalf of the students suspended. "A suspension is the same as a sentence," said Hodge, "without any trial or hearing whatsoever."

The suit, filed Wednesday, was assigned to U.S. District Court Judge Whitman Knapp, who headed the Knapp Commission investigation into alleged police corruption in New York City. Because this lawsuit involves police officers, sources in the U.S. District Court in the U.S. District Court Clerk's Office in New York City told The Freeman today that it is likely that the case will be re-assigned to another judge.

Letters Dominate City School Session

RIFTON — Sex education, which has generated considerable heat at recent meetings of the Board of Education of the Kingston City Schools Consolidated, received only passing mention at Wednesday night's brief meeting in the Anna Devine Elementary School in Rifton.

Attilio A. Contini of Bloomington passed out to board members, but did not read aloud, a letter in which he called for elimination of sex education in the district's elementary schools.

"A good health education program (K-8) is needed but sex education or sensitivity training should not be a part of it," Contini's letter said. He also called for a limited sex education program in the high school, taught by well qualified and trained people as part of the science-health program but not integrated into other studies. Board members made no comment.

Another letter, this one from Fred C. Hofbauer, a director of the W've Had It Taxpayers Association (WHITA) of Ulster

County, suggested that the board consider five proposals before ordering cuts in student programs. Hofbauer called for no pay raises for teachers and administrators, enlargement of all classes to the contractual maximum of 29 students, increasing high school teaching loads from five to six periods, elimination of summer employment for principals and administrators ("If they want to work change to 12-month schooling"), and a job study to determine if vacancies in administrative or supervisory positions can be absorbed before replacements are held. The board did not comment.

The board, required to meet on the night following the annual election, certified the Tuesday election of James T. Owens to the board. Owens, an IBM employee, polled 1,563 votes to 795 for Thomas R. Kearney and 209 for the Rev. John H. Gilmore, and takes office July 1 for a five-year term.

The board accepted the resignation of John Johnson as director of the school lunch program effective May 18. Louis A. Salzmänn, district superintendent, called the Kingston school lunch program "one of the finest in New York state" and said that officials from other states have come here to study its operation. Salzmänn, noting that the district had several unused snow days, said that the Memorial Day weekend will be extended. Classes will end after school on Wednesday, May 23, and will not resume until Tuesday, May 29.

The board approved a request from the Town of Ulster Recreation Commission to construct two basketball courts at the Chambers Elementary school for a supervised summer recreation program, with the provision that the board retain full control over use of the courts.

The board will hold a special meeting in the central administration office in Kingston on Tuesday, May 15, to adopt a proposed budget for the 1973-74 school year, and will announce at that time a date and place for a public hearing on the budget.

Gunfire Rocks Beirut

Troops, Guerrillas Resume Battle

BEIRUT (UPI) — Army troops and Palestinian guerrillas who battled for hours Wednesday in the streets of Beirut resumed firing early today despite urgent peace talks between government and guerrilla chiefs.

Witnesses said shooting began about 6:45 a.m. in the same general area as the Wednesday fighting—around four Arab refugee camps on the southern outskirts of Beirut.

About one hour later, the sound of gunfire escalated in intensity and volume.

There was no report of casualties in Beirut.

But elsewhere, newsmen reported, there were bombings and shootings.

Unidentified armed men, they said, attacked a post office building housing the telephone department in the southern city of Sidon. A hand grenade blew in the door. Other unidentified persons set fire to three telephone department trucks in Beirut, but the flames were put thumps of heavier weapons, including what sounded like tanks.

In Beirut, newspapers said today, unidentified gunmen assassinated the widow of a dead Al Fatah guerrilla leader and wounded 40 more. Guerrilla late Wednesday as she stood by the elevator in her home.

UPI correspondent David Zenian said he was not allowed to approach the area close enough to see who was shooting at what.

But, he said, he heard the bloodiest in four years and clatter of machine guns and the apparently was caused by a series of incidents the army but it said all public meetings and demonstrations were banned.

After the shooting Wednesday, which lasted more than seven hours and involved weapons ranging from pistols to tanks, the army imposed an indefinite curfew on the capital and several other cities.

Reports of fresh fighting today coincided with an army broadcast saying that officials would lift the curfew between the hours of 9 a.m. and 11 a.m.

Apart from the area around the camps, where scores of troops backed by tanks and armored cars stood guard all night, Beirut seemed peaceful early today.

Several cars and a few pedestrians walked along the streets. Some employees had special passes to go out during the curfew, but there were no police or troops in the center of the city to enforce the curfew.

Ellenville Voters Reject School Budget, Two Incumbents

ELLENVILLE incumbents running in a field of 15 for school board member, Ellenville Central School District voters rejected the proposed 1973-74 district budget. The budget, up from this year's $3,852,791 to a proposed $4,347,231, was turned down by a count of 681 for to 788 against. The district has had a recent history of budget defeats, with multiple budget votes being required the past two years.

No immediate decision was made on the school board's next move in the face of the voter rejection of the budget. A meeting of the board is scheduled for next Tuesday.

There were five seats available in this year's race, and filling them will be Mrs. Sonia Olsen, with 900 votes; Morris Posner, who received 729 votes; Mrs. Florence Kirby, 862 votes;

John Scoza, 703 votes; and Dr. Arnold Wolff, 665 votes. Mrs. Olsen and Posner are incumbents; Mrs. Kirby and Wolff are former board members. Trailing in the voting were school board vice-president Dr. Esrig, 287; William Collier 614; James Cone Jr., and incumbent James J. Murray, Cone received 576 votes, and Murray 619. Others in the race were Ronald W. Elias, 608; Irving Murray, Cone, Elias, Collier and Wolff said they were running as a team during the campaign. Only Wolff was elected. The election results could undermine the position of Superintendent of Schools Thomas J. Hayden. Murray and Cone were his strong supporters. Posner and Mrs. Olsen are his detractors. Mrs. Olsen said after her victory that Hayden "would have to work the way the school board feels he should, or he will have to go." Hayden was unavailable for comment.

In a strange twist, it appears as if Mrs. Olsen and Posner, the elected incumbents, will have to leave the board and return in July. The three high vote getters, Posner, Mrs. Olsen and Mrs. Kirby, get the three three-year terms. Posner and Mrs. Olsen had been appointed to fill vacancies, and the one-year terms left in those vacancies will be filled immediately by Scoza and Dr. Wolff. School board Attorney Benjamin Lonsdale said after the voting that the situation "seems kind of peculiar," but he believed it to be a fact, though he intended to research the question further.

The Ellenville Library budget was approved 726 for to 693 against, and Mrs. Nadia Shepard was reelected, running unopposed, to the library board of trustees with 574 votes. The total number of voters in the election was 1,757, slightly higher than usual.

County Legislature to Purchase Site for Park

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON Ulster County Legislature is expected to exercise its option on a 92-acre choice piece of Hudson River waterfront property and purchase it for $270,000 for use as a county park in the Town of Ulster.

A vote on the purchase will be taken at the May 10 meeting of the county board in the County Office Building in Kingston.

The parcel, which borders on "pure" water, is known as St. George's Children's Camp and is to be purchased from St. George's Episcopal Church in New York City. The county took an option for $270,000 on the property six months ago. The site is about two miles north of the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge.

The Legislature is also expected to vote on a resolution which would affect another Ulster County waterfront property — the property where Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation is anticipating building a new power facility on the old Terry Brickyard site adjacent to the Kingston-Rhinecliff Bridge.

Legislator Brian White (R-Dist. 9) asks that a study of the proposal be made in order to determine whether the facility would or would not have a detrimental effect on the surrounding environment.

The Recreation and Youth Committee, which had been studying recreational needs of interest in acquiring the property.

The site is on Ulster Landing Road which provides excellent access to the property. The purchase was recommended by County Planning Director Herbert Hekler.

An underground electrical explosion in Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company manholes rocked the Clinton Avenue. The explosion and resultant

White's request for a study of the Central Hudson proposal stems from the fact that he feels the legislature "should know exactly what impact this facility will have on surrounding communities. He asks that the recently established County Environmental Conservation Council make the study.

The board is also expected to vote on a proposal to open a branch motor vehicle office in Southern Ulster County, to adopt the Modena Agricultural District, set a date for a public hearing on the proposed Ardonia Agricultural District and go on record as opposing a State Senate bill relating to the financing and administering of the local courts.

The legislature will also act on a $3,000 medical scholarship for Robert J. Taylor of Stone Ridge and another in the same amount for Thomas Lagarra Jr.

William Eckert of Wawarsing, John O'Sullivan of Rosendale, Stanley Walker of Stone Ridge and Gifford E. Beal of Highland will be appointed to the Ulster County Planning Board.

Underground Blast Rocks Uptown Kingston

KINGSTON Main Street area of Kingston shortly before 8 a.m. today, resulting in injuries to a Palenville man and broke windows in nearby buildings. The explosion and resultant fire in electrical insulation were reported by the Kingston Fire Department to be caused by a short circuit in a secondary electrical cable due to moisture in the conduit.

Covers were blown from two manholes by the force of the blast. Joseph Colocchia of Palenville, who was standing several feet from the manholes at the time, was reported to have received burns on his hand. He was treated and released at Kingston Hospital. Windows in the Kirkland Hotel and Goldman's were knocked out by the explosion. Kingston firefighters dispatched to the scene along with seven pieces of equipment, evacuated several nearby buildings as they awaited arrival of Central Hudson crews. The burning insulation was extinguished using dry powder extinguishers.

Damage reported included broken windows and a broken manhole cover.

Several Central Hudson customers in the immediate area were without electricity for a short period of time. Several hours after the blast all but two had been returned to service, according to a Central Hudson spokesman. Crews were working to install new cable for those customers.

Kingston firefighters reported back from the scene at 9 a.m.

Irate Housewives 'Organize' Telegram Campaign

KINGSTON Officials in opposition to the proposed $10,000 salary increase for state legislators are also asking for telegrams to be sent to President Nixon requesting the immediate rollback of food prices. The toll-free number is 1-800-627-2211 with the cost of a 15-word telegram to Washington at $1.25 and to Albany one dollar. The message the "Housewives" are forwarding to Assembly

Speaker Perry Dureya, Senate Majority Leader Warren Anderson and Gov. Rockefeller is: "Oppose $10,000 wage increase. Will work for your defeat at polls if you vote yes." The message to the President reads: "Issue executive order. Immediate rollback necessary. Bless us all with lower prices." Similar messages have been sent to area federal and state legislators.

Plans have been finalized for the "Kingston Tea Party" at Academy Green on Saturday which will begin with a motorcade at Dietz Stadium, to the Bus Terminal on Broadway and back to Academy Green.

Participants are asked to bring used teabags to the rally. Reportedly, the teabags will be packaged and sent to President Nixon along with a list of grievances. The motorcade will begin at 10:30 a.m. from Dietz Stadium.

Kingston firefighters reported back from the scene at 9 a.m.

Testifies on $913,000 Loss

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Telex Corp. saw a $12.4 million profit one year plummet into a $913,000 loss the next, President S. J. Jatrass testified Wednesday in federal court trial of the $1.2 billion antitrust suit against IBM.

Jatrass said the loss was because of IBM's attempt to freeze out small company competition in the computer peripheral accessory industry. Jatrass was the ninth witness in the 13th day of the non-jury trial before U.S. District Court Judge A. Sherman Christensen of Salt Lake City.

Later Jatrass admitted part of Telex's financial difficulties may have stemmed from criticism of the firm's accounting procedures. Jatrass said they have been changed.

Jatrass said Telex gross receipts totaled $77 million in 1971 and skidded to $56 million in 1972 expenses for those years were $21 million and $25 million, respectively, he said.

Fish Bill For Seniors To Be Introduced

WASHINGTON, D.C.

Opposition to the administration's plan to cut Medicare program benefits for senior citizens is being expressed by Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-25th District), who announced that on May 5, he will introduce a "Sense of Congress Resolution" to place Congress itself on record as opposed to the plan.

"The administration's decision to cut back on Medicare programs which affect those citizens over 65, came in the Administration's Fiscal Year 1974 budget. The proposed changes in existing law would substantially increase costs to Medicare recipients," Fish said. Under existing law, a Medicare beneficiary under Part A pays $72 for the first day of hospitalization and nothing for the second through 60th day. The administration's plan would change this to have the patient pay full charge for the first day, and 10 per cent of all charges for each subsequent day of hospitalization.

Even administration officials admit that for the average Medicare beneficiary who is hospitalized, the costs will rise from $84 to $189, an increase of 125 per cent," Fish said.

Under Part B of Medicare law, the beneficiary pays the first $50 and 20 per cent of the remaining bill for doctors' expenses. The administration proposal would raise this to $85 and 25 per cent of the remainder of the bill.

Fish said he was introducing the resolution to place Congress on record as opposing these changes, as "I have received literally hundreds of letters from senior citizens in my Congressional District who state that such changes would effectively deprive them of needed medical help."

"Further support of the present program comes from a recent Harris survey which shows that 92 per cent of our citizens are opposed to making the elderly pay for more Medicare."

"I of course also believe that the proposed changes are illegal and unacceptable," Fish said.

"I believe it is clear that the Medicare program has been of invaluable assistance to elderly Americans, and although I fully sympathize with and support the administration's efforts to trim our federal budget, I believe that such a financial blow at senior citizens as is indicated by the administration is neither necessary nor justifiable," Fish concluded.

Slabsides Open House On May 19

WEST PARK

The annual spring open house at Slabsides, the National Historic Landmark at West Park will be held Saturday, May 19.

At 11 a.m. Mrs. E. B. Kelly will give a talk at the cabin about her grandfather, Naturalist John Burroughs. Visitors may bring a picnic lunch and take part in the nature walks with Dr. J. Alfred Adams, president of the John Burroughs Natural History Society. The walk will be in the sanctuary and will concentrate on spring wildflowers and birds.

The cabin will be open from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. May 19.

Those attending may reach Slabsides by taking the Floyd Ackert Road westward from Route 9W at West Park, passing the post office and crossing the railroad tracks and proceeding to the top of the hill where Burroughs Drive joins Floyd Ackert Road. Cars will be parked here and visitors will walk to the cabin.

Parade Marshal In Ellenville

ELLENVILLE

With plans under way for the annual observance of Memorial Day, Ellenville Postmaster Nathan Raskin has been named parade marshal this year, according to announcement by the Veterans' Council of Ellenville.

Raskin, a veteran of WW II, served in the U. S. Army for three years during which he saw foreign duty in the Pacific. The holder of five medals, Raskin also received government recognition for his participation in the campaigns at Luzon and New Guinea.

In making the announcement, Council President George A. Green noted that arrangements currently under way are expected to be completed soon.

The Council is asking area residents to be active participants in this year's parade. "It is the council's desire to have a large turnout as we again honor our military dead," Green said. "We would like to have the cooperation of all patriotically-minded people, non-veterans as well as veterans."

All units or individuals who wish to take part in this year's parade are requested to contact either Green or Julius Haener Jr., council secretary.

RELEASED AFTER 51 YEARS — Israel Karp, 68, a "lifer" at Clinton Correctional Facility at Dannemora, is released after serving more than 51 years behind bars. PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Communist troops, striking in driving thunderstorms, launched new attacks south and northeast of Phnom Penh early today, the Cambodian command said.

U.S. warplanes pounded Communist positions along the Mekong river's east bank as close as three miles from the capital Wednesday. Command spokesmen said the Communist drives today ranged 16 to 18 miles from Phnom Penh.

The Communist thrust accompanied thunderstorms that struck Phnom Penh about 4:30 a.m. and continued until dawn. There was no immediate report of air activity to counter the attacks, but the American air campaign in Cambodia rounded out its 56th consecutive day Wednesday and more raids were expected later today.

Cambodian command spokesmen said Communist soldiers attacked the town of Siem Reap, 16 miles south of Phnom Penh, and mounted another drive around Preah Prasap, 18 miles northeast of the capital. There was no report of casualties but spokesmen said fighting was heavy in both areas.

More fighting also was reported around the provincial capital of Takeo, 55 miles south of Phnom Penh on Highway 2 near the South Vietnamese border. Communists surrounded Takeo nearly five weeks ago and fighting there has been fierce and bloody ever since. Spokesmen said another convoy of 196 trucks and 65 trailers made a successful run Wednesday into Phnom Penh from the deepwater port of Kompong Som, 134 miles southwest of the capital on Highway 4. Travel along Highway 4 and the capital's five other major supply routes has been hazardous for weeks because of heavy Communist pressure along them.

Reliable sources said today that the government plans to release 10 persons, including five newspapermen, who were arrested following the March 17 bombing of the presidential palace in Phnom Penh.

No reason was given for the release of the 10, who were among more than 100 intellectuals, politicians, journalists and members of the royal family picked up after the palace raid, which killed more than 50 persons.

War Powers Bill Passes Subcommittee

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee Wednesday approved legislation requiring a president to remove U.S. forces from a conflict abroad within 120 days unless Congress specifically approves his war commitment.

During the four months, under the measure, Congress could order a halt to the war action.

The 8 to 1 approval of the strongly worded war powers bill by the House national security affairs subcommittee was a sharp turnaround from its war powers bill two years ago. That measure would have required simply a president to consult with congressional leaders on making military commitments abroad.

The joint resolution approved by the subcommittee headed by Chairman Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., would also require the President to report to Congress within 48 hours after committing U.S. forces in a conflict abroad or enlarging U.S. forces already there.

He would be required to report the scope of the commitment, its estimated financial cost, the circumstances requiring the commitment and the constitutional and legislative provisions authorizing the action.

The House subcommittee war powers bill follows the basic principles of a 30-day deadline that appears to be favored in the Senate.

But the House measure has no language exempting current Cambodia bombing or other Indo-China activities.

Meanwhile, in the Senate, the Democratic caucus voted to oppose appropriations for such military actions as the bombing of Cambodia.

An immediate test of the Democratic policy will be a transfer sought by the administration of about $435 million in Pentagon funds to pay for the bombing campaign.

The key words in the resolution, adopted by voice vote, banned funds "for the pursuit of any military action by the United States in Cambodia."

Wounded Knee Insurgents . . .

Day of Decision May Be Near

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (UPI) — Federal negotiators were expected to return to Wounded Knee today amid predictions by American Indian Movement (AIM) chapters around the nation that Friday could be the day of decision.

The AIM information service in Rapid City, S.D., and city chapters from various parts of the country predicted that if the Wounded Knee insurgents did not lay down their arms by this weekend government forces would move into the village.

Federal negotiators had no official comment on the AIM reports, except to point out that AIM had made similar predictions at various other times during the 65-day occupation of the historic village.

Although there was a government news blackout concerning any details of negotiating session, it was known at least one session was held in the Wounded Knee vicinity Wednesday and further meetings were expected today.

The militants holding Wounded Knee spent Wednesday reinforcing defenses in the village, including the digging of tunnels. One AIM source said the tunnels could be a defense in the event federal forces used tear gas in the assault.

Federal negotiator Richard Hellstern Wednesday decried AIM's "public relations tactics," charging that the militants were dishonoring their own dead by delaying the funeral of a slain AIM partisan. He referred to Frank Clearwater, 47, Cherokee, N.C., who died of wounds April 24. The body had not been buried late Wednesday, according to Rosebud Reservation Police Chief Louis White.

The body was taken to the Rosebud Reservation after Pine Ridge reservation authorities refused an AIM request that he be buried at Wounded Knee.

White said he had not been able to confirm the burial and that the burial party "will not talk to us."

Hellstern said the public should be made aware of how AIM "has used the deceased as a public relations show. It is most disrespectful to the deceased himself," Hellstern said. "It is not the normal way you deal with death in normal Indian society."

Turnpike Suspect Sought

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI) — New Jersey State Police are searching for an alleged member of the Black Liberation Army who escaped their dragnet following a New Jersey Turnpike shootout that left one trooper and a gang member dead.

A massive search by authorities involving 200 state and local officers with bloodhounds and helicopters was called off at mid-afternoon after the gunbattle around 12:45 a.m. Wednesday.

State Trooper Werner Foerster, 35, of Old Bridge, died of multiple gunshot wounds of the chest. An alleged assailant, James F. Coston Jr., 33, of the Bronx, N.Y., was also killed.

The alleged instigator of the incident, Joanne Deborah Chesimard, 25, reportedly a member of the Black Liberation Army, was listed in fair condition from gunshot wounds of the arms and left shoulder. State Trooper James Harper, 29, of Freehold, was in fair condition with a shoulder wound.

Police said Trooper Harper stopped three suspects for a traffic violation and waited for Foerster to arrive in a back-up vehicle.

Noting discrepancies in the driver's license and registration, Foerster asked him to get out and questioned him. When Harper moved toward the car, police charged, shots "from inside the vehicle" were fired by Miss Chesimard. The two officers returned the fire as the car sped away.

The body of another slain militant, Lawrence Lamont, 31, Pine Ridge, who died a week ago, still was in a Rushville, Neb., mortuary with funeral plans incomplete. Lamont's funeral at Wounded Knee has been approved by tribal authorities because he is a tribal member but no firm date has been set for the burial.

Trooper Robert Palentchar spotted the car about five miles further south and saw one suspect fleeing. He fired one shot but the man kept running. Palentchar was not sure if he hit the suspect.

Authorities said the trooper then saw the woman walking toward him with one hand raised and spotted Coston, also known as Zayd Malik Shakur, lying dead near the abandoned car.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 3, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — H. R. Haldeman, the ousted White House major domo, personally pulled the strings that opened the prison doors for ex-Teamster boss Jimmy Hoffa. The incarcerated Hoffa had been promised he would be free by Thanksgiving 1970. This was considered so certain that his wife was permitted to telephone the happy news to him in the warden's office at Lewisburg, Pa., penitentiary.

Washington Merry-Go-Round
Tale of Jimmy Hoffa's Parole

But for a year, the Justice Department balked at recommending Hoffa's release and the parole board turned him down twice. Not until ex-White House aide Murray Chotiner complained to Haldeman was action taken. "It appears that nothing substantive has occurred," wrote Chotiner. "It is suggested that it should not take this long to perform if there is going to be any performance." Chotiner's note to Haldeman was dated November 3, 1971. By Christmas eve, Hoffa was out of prison. His sentence was commuted by President Nixon after hundreds of thousands of dollars had been contributed to the Nixon campaign and after Hoffa pledged to "deliver" the Teamsters Union into the Republican fold in 1972. Campaign Cash One source close to the Teamsters claimed the union had raised more than $750,000 for Nixon, most of it in cash, during the 1968 and 1972 campaigns. Much of the money came from Las Vegas gambling lords whose casinos were financed by the Teamsters' pension fund, swore our source. Another source close to the President told us the amount was smaller. But all sources agreed that a huge cash collection was turned over to former Attorney General John Mitchell, in behalf of the Teamsters, by crime-connected Allen Dorfman.

Mitchell flatly denied receiving any Teamsters contribution. "I was in the business of expending money, not receiving it," he told us. Dorfman has been linked by the New York Times to Mafia mobsters who allegedly have been trying to cut themselves into a Teamsters' medical program on the West Coast. The Times quoted from an FBI affidavit, which claimed Dorfman put Hoffa's successor as Teamsters president, Frank Fitzsimmons, together with the Mafia mobsters in California last February.

Flew With Nixon

After his meetings with the mobsters, Fitzsimmons flew back to Washington with President Nixon on the presidential plane. Dorfman, meanwhile, began serving a prison term for pension fund fraud and jury tampering.

We have spent several weeks piecing together the story of Hoffa's release. Fitzsimmons made several approaches to Mitchell, beginning in mid-1969, to secure a parole for Hoffa. A promise of parole by Thanksgiving 1970, however, fell through.

A confidential file shows that Hoffa's son, James, made a new approach in early 1971 to Murray Chotiner who was identified by the code name, "Mr. Pajamas." Contrary to published reports, Chotiner received no contributions on fees but assisted Hoffa for political reasons. On April 11, a Hoffa family friend, Charles O'Brien, spoke to Hoffa by telephone. A Teamsters associate, who also got on the phone, reported in a confidential memo:

"I told him that I passed on all information concerning himself to Mr. Pajamas who was putting same in the proper place so that the decision makers could make evaluations. (Hoffa) then told me that if he were out, not only could he deliver the Teamsters Union for the Republican party in 1972 but that he could also deliver many construction trade unions as well. He told me that Mr. Fitzsimmons could not deliver anything without him."

Hoffa in Jail

The contact man in the Justice Department, thereafter, was Will Wilson, then chief of the Criminal Division. He told Chotiner on August 10 that both the President and Mitchell wanted "to get the Hoffa matter out of their hair."

Two days later, Wilson promised that "everything either has or will be done by August 20 to assist in the release of Hoffa," but warned it was best "not to move too rapidly (to avoid) premature stories in the press."

Still nothing happened. On October 7, young Hoffa appeared in a letter to Mitchell. The letter quoted Wilson as saying that Mitchell had personally approved an "understanding that the Justice Department would make a recommendation for immediate release on parole. I specifically asked him whether my understanding was with him alone or whether it was with you and the administration. He assured me that it was with you."

Chotiner subsequently sent Haldeman a chronological account of the efforts to free Hoffa, along with a note suggesting "it should not take this long to perform if there is going to be any performance."

Footnote: The confidential file indicates that Hoffa suspected Mitchell and Fitzsimmons of deliberately holding up his release. Chotiner refused to comment, saying he "does not discuss matters involving the White House."

The Harmony Boys

On the Right

Unions and the First eloquent on the point — that television is every bit as much an instrument of press freedom as the newspaper, and that television newsmen are therefore entitled to exactly the same protection that the newspapermen are entitled to.

If television is no different — insofar as the first amendment is concerned — from the newspapers, then why couldn't a newspaperman's union refuse to permit its representatives to take notes at any press conference also being covered by reporters who are not union members? One would suppose that such an effrontery would not be tolerated. But why is it tolerated in television?

As things now stand, the District Court in New York has ruled in Buckley and Evans vs. AFTRA that the union cannot compel persons who appear on television for the exclusive purpose of giving their own views on public affairs to join. AFTRA was shocked by the verdict and quickly announced that it would appeal. Professor Alexander Bickel of Yale University has accordingly been hired to take my civil liberties away from me. The arguments are being prepared and the legal confrontation will soon be held.

loyalty to the first amendment, has urged his very important constituency to side with me and with Evans, and has attempted to persuade the American Civil Liberties Union to file a brief amicus curiae. He has almost singlehandedly persuaded the ACLU to change its historic opinion about union membership. The union shop, the ACLU now says belatedly, ought not to be required for people who are journalists.

What is dismaying about all of this is the failure of the great journalistic organs — THE NEW YORK TIMES, for instance; CBS and NBC and ABC — to fight for the first amendment at the level at which it is most routinely trampled upon — by the unions. They rise in their wrath only when Dan Ellsberg is to be protected, or when a Congressional committee desires to see the cuts that were made in "The Selling Mute" when they are themselves closed down as the result of inordinate union power achieving effects that are forbidden to the Congress by the Constitution. And — as the case of NBC shows — they are not even beyond turning a profit from the situation. At least they could contribute such a profit to the National Right to Work Defense Committee.

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY, JR.

Now hear this one, if you care for civil liberties.

Last week a press conference is called to which are invited newspapermen of course, and also television. Because the conference is of particular interest to public television, a team comes up to New York all the way from Columbia, South Carolina and sets up its camera, alongside the three cameras from the commercial stations.

Enter the gentleman who called the press conference. He is approached by the television interviewer for NBC and told that, ah, unfortunately none of the cameras can shoot under the present arrangement. Why? Because the public television team is not a member of the relevant union.

There isn't much to be done under the hectic circumstances, so NBC is asked whether it would make its footage available to the public television camera after the conference, and the answer is an obliging yes. The press conference takes place, the public T.V. men sitting idle, their electric cord ritually disconnected from the wall socket. Later in the day they approach NBC for the promised footage and are told that the charge — for 12 minutes of tape — will be $6,000. They gasp, and NBC grandly reduces the charge to $3,000. The hell with it, the public television people say: they don't have that kind of money.

I was the principal, as you will have guessed, and this column is one part a public act of remorse. I should have told the commercial stations to pull out their own plugs, and then faced only the public television camera with my announcement. Having an over-developed theatrical flair, I would under such circumstances have been tempted solemnly to announce not my plans for the future of Firing Line (the designated subject of the conference), but my intention to run for Mayor of New York. That would have caused the gasps to come from the commercial stations which (in my fantasy) would then have begged me on bended knee to repeat the announcement for their benefit, but I'd have been the soul of obduracy. Presumably if a non-union camera had been present at Dallas on November 22, 1963, CBS, NBC and ABC would simply have declined to photograph the final moments in the life of the President of the United States.

Here is what I miss in the literature that comes in from the civil libertarians. They are telling us — Dr. Frank Stanton has been most individual, the proceedings of the grand jury are supposed to be secret."

By that he meant that were it not for the secrecy theoretically built into grand jury sessions, the accused could be the victim of harsh and arbitrary judgments without the slightest chance to defend himself.

The grand jury, Mr. Safire notes, is only in the business to accuse and not to convict and so the person who is the target of investigation is stripped of the protection of an American courtroom in that he cannot confront his accusers or examine witnesses. He cannot even know what evidence will be brought before him and may not even be told what crime is being probed.

So, says Mr. Safire, only the secrecy of the grand jury room stands as a bulwark against smears and unjust defamation.

The implication, thus, is that if the cloak of secrecy is stripped from the closed door activities, there is urgent call for change.

The Anderson situation is not the first in which supposedly secret grand jury testimony was publicized.

New York newspapers two weeks ago disclosed jury data involving a leading candidate for mayor of that city. Similar information in the Clifford Irving case was revealed.

The Anderson disclosures therefore only dramatized a tragically deteriorating situation involving our judicial process.

Because of the nature of the Watergate case, it may be that the public hasn't been overly disturbed by the Anderson columns. But in America the rights of the innocent are paramount. The columnist has proven that these rights are in danger. So the answer is simple. Either plug the leaks completely or change the system.

MEAT INSPECTION HAZARD —

Since tighter federal inspection of meat went into effect several years ago, the inspectors have been subject to threats and assault. With the meat shortage increasing intimidation, the Department of Agriculture now stops inspection where there is any intimidation. Uninspected meat cannot be sold.

Freeman Editorials

Grand Jury Secrecy

Jack Anderson, whose column appears daily in The Freeman and hundreds of other newspapers, has agreed not to continue to print verbatim testimony from grand jury hearings on aspects of the Watergate case.

The columnist, himself, initiated the action with the federal prosecutors, asserting that he had become convinced that further verbatim excerpts would not be in the best interests of the investigation. He pointed out, though, that as a journalist he had an obligation and right to continue to report pertinent information on the "sordid scandal" and that his agreement pertained only to verbatim transcripts.

His action brings up several interesting points.

The first and most obvious question is how did he get the information.

The columns, for the benefit of those who did not read them or who did read them and forgot what they said, were not merely references to what supposedly was said but were literal transcriptions of the proceedings, the actual words of government attorneys and the exact answers of the witnesses.

So it is evident that the muckraking columnist had a direct pipeline to someone in high places although he has denied being the beneficiary of leaks from the prosecuting staff.

It is not vital at this time to determine the identity of who provided the data. What is important, however, is to determine whether the grand jury process, as it is presently conducted, has outlived its usefulness.

Another columnist, William Safire, who formerly was on the Nixon staff, sums up the situation very well in a hat tip to Jack Anderson.

Mr. Safire points out that the grand jury system would be a Star Chamber, "the essence of tyranny, were it not for the one powerful protection to the

BREMER IN SOLITARY —

A telephone warning to Governor George Wallace of Alabama of a possible attempt on the life of Arthur Bremer, convicted of shooting the Governor, was relayed by Wallace to the prison in Baltimore, where the 22-year-old drifter was put in solitary confinement for his own protection. Wallace promptly went to his assailant's aid.

The Nation
The System Will Certainly Survive

By MARTIN F. NOLAN

WASHINGTON — It is time for the theology of alarm in the land, with incantations of "Save the system!" filling the skies.

The Wall Street Journal wishes President Nixon "Godspeed" in cleaning up the Watergate mess. Newsweek quotes an anonymous Republican senator as saying, "It's no longer save the party or even the President. It's save the Presidency."

In the same Newsweek Stewart Alsop focuses on a feeling of fragility about the American experiment: "The American system is flexible, and can take many wounds and hurts. What it cannot take is the proof, even the strong suspicion, that the Chief Executive himself was personally involved in crass illegality. That proof, even that suspicion, could destroy the system."

What system? Save what type of Presidency? Is the current wave of alarm about "the system" aimed at perpetuating the idea of the Presidency as an infallible royal presence?

In the shifting vogue of crises, last month's alarm was devoted to the "constitutional crisis." But that was before President Nixon discovered "new developments" in the White House. That was before he discovered that he was human and fallible and had human and fallible men.

The "constitutional crisis" between the President and Congress derived from the long-time dedication of the Presidency. The process that began with Franklin Roosevelt was accelerated by the fact of the A-bomb.

The man with his finger on the nuclear button has become, almost necessarily, a repository of human faith. In an age of anxiety, people want to believe — people have to believe — in somebody.

That human faith has, in the hand of political propagandists, helped transform a human, American politician into an instant Pope or Dalai Lama. The media, too, have cooperated by making the White House a cathedral of paralyzing power and majesty.

Now, the sacred veil of mystery and majesty is disintegrating, eroded by secular mendacity and human weakness.

But the system, this human arrangement of temporal power, is flourishing, not falling apart. Only the facade of Presidential omnipotence and executive self-righteousness is cracking. The rest of the system is working well.

Congress, in the person of Sen. Sam Ervin, doesn't need saving. The judiciary, in the person of Judge John Sirica, is holding up well.

Even those institutional betes-noires of the Nixon Administration are less endangered. The Federal bureaucracy hasn't changed much and the press, in the persons of Carl Bernstein and Bob Woodward of the Washington Post, is functioning every day.

And the people? This group of 200 million souls has collectively endured fundamental changes in family life, religious customs, leisure habits, housing and economics. America has compressed centuries of change into a quarter-century, since Richard Nixon was investigating Alger Hiss.

The people can accept political change well enough and they probably don't need "Godspeed," either. The process, sordid as it is, may be slow and educational.

The people are ahead of the alarmists. When they are preached at about destroying public trust, they know that public trust has already been destroyed.

Sex Education

Editor, The Freeman:

The nineteenth century, especially the Victorian-Edwardian era was known for the strictness of its moral standards, for the effort to ignore the body and especially sex.

Boys and girls were either educated at home or in Dame Schools beginning at some time between the age of three and five. They learned shapes, colors, numbers, letters, counting, addition and subtraction, and natural history (or natural science). Natural history included geology, botany and zoology. The children were taught to find the colors and shapes they had learned in crystals, plant parts and animal parts. They counted the number of petals in the corolla and sepals in the calyx. They dissected the flower and found the ovule and the ova. They learned that the ova could not grow into a seed until it had been united with a pollen grain. They studied the seed and observed the plant embryo and the parts of the seedling as they emerged from the germination seed. In fact they were given an introduction to "sex-ed." Morals were taught at home by parents, and by clergymen. Such lessons were presumed to begin before the children were sent to the Dame School and long before they went to public school.

The children so taught were not thought to have had their morals corrupted. The largest controversy seems to have been over the beginning of the subject — should the large external parts be taught first, or the internal structures and functions of the plant? To study the external features was thought to require drawing skills young children were only beginning to learn. Children can understand life as a series of incessant changes. Moral injury to the child comes from false estimates of life, of its nature and its values. Such injuries could be prevented by the early habit of "direct, unbiased observation of living things." (quoted from an 1889 publication.)

Twentieth century children and young adults are expected to make many more decisions themselves than those of the 1880s. The educators of our day have, therefore, an even greater responsibility to provide our youth with the facts which will permit the youth to make intelligent decisions. To deny them facts in the name of morals may be immoral.

Sincerely yours,

C. F. R. DISSOSWAY

Dying Cities

Editor, The Freeman:

Is it too late to save our dying cities? The American city — in the not too distant future — could be called a disaster area unless something is done now. We have to solve the problem of crushing traffic jams, overcrowded sidewalks and slum areas.

The affluent types are moving to the suburbs and the less fortunate are left in the cities.

Lack of money is the focal point of the crisis. The urban renewal (destruction) is an example when the state or federal government subsidizes.

The situation is inflaming the social aspect by creating problems such as overcrowded schools, playgrounds, city cleaning going astray, riots and crime.

Why are cities squeezed for money when the nation as a whole is rich? It started after World War II in 1945 when farm workers sought their fortunes in the cities — the peacetime industrial trend. These people (some) were unskilled. As a result, the welfare rolls doubled and tripled.

We must return to the family farm system because when food is abundant prices decline.

There is nothing about cities in our constitution because things have changed since the document was written.

When you see farms becoming shopping plazas and cut up for super highways, one wonders where the cities will be in the next decade.

We definitely have to change our political thinking and elect leaders of wisdom and sound judgment. The citizens have to become more understanding of the needs of our fellowmen, their quality and desire to work. The citizens have to become less bureaucracy, permissiveness and complacency.

Sincerely,
EDWIN J. HIGBY

Recycling Efforts

Editor, The Freeman:

We all know that one big recycling in Rosendale has been problem in Rosendale is our landfill area. Because of the faithful contributors, but I feel heavy rains two weeks ago, the that we all can cut back on situation has become much our own pollution. Let's start worse. The road leading to the by recycling those bottles and area was flooded with water aluminum cans, and by com- and garbage. Hasty repairs posting some of our "garbage" were made, but it was still instead of sending it to the terrible. I viewed some slides landfill.

While it's true that the town must make every effort to locate a new site for solid waste disposal, we can help the situation a little bit in the meanwhile.

MTA Plans

Editor, The Freeman:

After reading "Stewart's Master Plan" in The Freeman, I wonder why the people of Ulster and Orange Counties allow the Metropolitan Transportation Authority to destroy the rural character of our area. It seems to me to be a plan that doesn't benefit anyone. It will pollute our area, raise taxes for new schools, additional firefighting equipment, additional law enforcement officers and new roads. We, the taxpayers, will bear the brunt of these.

In addition, what cross-continent or international traveler will want more than an one hour trip after his plane ride to get to New York City?

It is unimaginative of the MTA to think that because there was an airport at Stewart Field it should be enlarged to a huge facility. It will be a hardship for the traveler and the end of the peaceful blessings of fresh air and quiet for the residents of the area.

Handicapped Problems

Editor, The Freeman:

So far, 1973 has been a bad year for the handicapped . . . that for every dollar spent on

The Vocational Rehabilitation vocational rehabilitation, $15 Bill, which passed the Senate by an 86 to 2 majority on the form of wages of han-

February 28, became a political HANDOUT!!!

The administration brought out the big guns to prove that the President's veto of Education is refusing to pack a wallop. The results on the attempted override of the State veto fell 4 votes short of the two-thirds necessary to override.

The President flexed his muscles and the incidental victims were the handicapped.

Well, the Vocational Rehabilitation Bill was just a handout anyway! Right?

Wages for handicapped workers in 1972 totaled a billion dollars. Cities, states and the Federal Government collected 58 million in taxes from these wages. Even the most conservative research has indicated that for every dollar spent on vocational rehabilitation, $15 are returned to the economy in the form of wages of handicapped workers. SOME HANDOUT!!!

Now the Poughkeepsie Board of Education is refusing to rehire an experienced teacher who has lost his sight. The State of New York and the City of New York both hire non-sighted teachers to teach sighted children. Evidently the Poughkeepsie Board of Education has decided that this past experience is not for them.

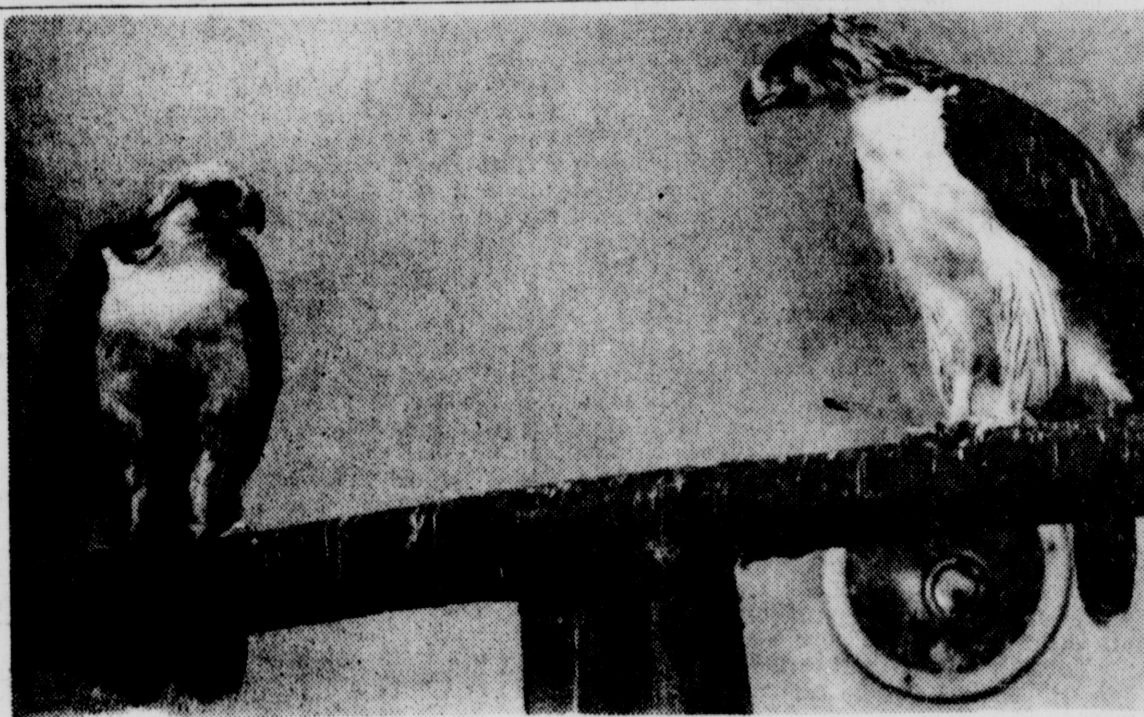

After all, why should they let facts alter their opinions?

So far, 1973 has been a bad year for the handicapped.

Yours truly,
Charles T. Weatherford, Jr.

MOTHERLY IMAGE TO DISAPPEAR—Pornographic film star Marilyn Chamber, 21, says her "all American mother" soap box photograph shown on packages of Ivory Snow, will soon disappear from supermarket shelves. The picture of the spicy starlet was taken when she was 12. Procter and Gamble has informed her that a contract for the picture wouldn't be renewed. However, Miss Chambers (at right, in recent publicity photo), said of the motherly image on the soap box, "that's me," "that's how I plan to continue." (UPI Telephoto)

Misalignment Is Blamed In Fatal Ski Accident

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — Evidence indicates that a misalignment of equipment caused an accident at a ski area which claimed two lives last winter, State Industrial Commissioner Louis L. Levine said Wednesday.

The commissioner said testimony indicated that the misalignment at tower 4 of the privately owned ski area at Warwick caused lift chairs to jam at the tower. Five chairs fell to the ground.

Henry Lucas, 53, of Brooklyn, was killed in the accident and Eric Alpert, 36, of Wyckoff, N.J., later died of injuries suffered in the mishap. A third man, Ernest Kahn, 45, of Manhattan, was seriously injured. Levine ordered the Passenger Tramway Advisory Council to study the accident and determine how such mishaps could be prevented.

The move was made the first week in April from its former location in the Urban Renewal District.

UCCA had been renting its office from Urban Renewal for $1 per year.

Since the property on Clinton Avenue was put up for sale, UCCA was asked to relocate and chose the office on Wall Street, which is upstairs over the Court Restaurant.

Concert Set

The program, under the direction of Peter J. Mancuso, will include the Seventh Grade Chorus, the Junior High School Choir, and the High School Choir.

The Other Day
Michael Leopold

When an acquaintance told us he had seen a bird eight feet tall we started to edge out of the office to get out of his way before he became violent, but as he pursued us he finally convinced us he wasn't entirely batty. He had authentic information on a type of stork (the Adjutant) which really does grow to a height of eight feet. It is mostly white, with slate colored back and wings, and they have a life span up to one hundred years, much longer than most other bird species. Well, we haven't any eight foot birds to show you, but we've got some "mile high values" for you!

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices opened lower in moderate trading today on the New York Stock Exchange.

Shortly after the opening bell, the widely watched Dow Jones industrial average slipped 1.95 to 930.39. Declines led advances, 135 to 122, among 370 issues on the tape.

The stock market advanced along a broad front in light trading Wednesday and the Dow closed with a gain of 11.13. The gain stemmed partially from investor anticipation of President Nixon's late afternoon statement on the economy. Investors were hoping the President would tighten up wage-price controls, analysts said.

The President's statement imposed some stiffening of the rules governing price boosts. He said the nation's largest firms must notify the Cost of Living Council 30 days in advance before boosting prices above 1.5 per cent of the Jan. 10 levels. He also said the Council will review past increases and may order some reductions.

Major Items Awaiting State Legislature Action

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York legislature is marking time while awaiting decisions by its Republican leaders and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller on major legislation.

Both houses are in session, but the activity by the rank and file lawmakers has been confined to clearing the calendar of minor bills.

Still in the wings are such items as:

—Court reorganization. Rockefeller wants the power to name the Court of Appeals judges and the Supreme Court justices. Many lawmakers have objected vigorously to this proposal and other items in the package. The County Officers Association and other local officials say counties will lose millions under his suggestion for the full state takeover of the court system.

—State takeover of welfare administration. Several lawmakers are under pressures from welfare officers in their home districts who say the plan would disrupt the welfare operations. In addition, New York City and several other city welfare departments want the state to pick up the local share of welfare costs. Rockefeller has withdrawn his welfare program for revision.

The legislation, introduced Wednesday at the request of state Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, would prohibit the cancellation or termination of regular gasoline-supply contracts until next April 30.

For independent stations that do not have contracts but buy their gasoline on the "spot" market, the bill would guarantee that they could buy fuel over the next 12 months equal to 84 per cent of the amount purchased in 1972.

Lefkowitz said at a news conference in New York City Wednesday that a preliminary investigation by his office had raised serious questions as to whether the fuel shortage is as severe as claimed by major oil companies.

—The agreement with the Civil Service Employees Association, which represents the bulk of the state's 180,000 workers. Lawmakers have been told that the agreement calls for a 12 per cent pay raise over two years and reduced pension benefits. But Rockefeller's office has yet to submit the detailed plan.

—Off-track betting. Rockefeller and the legislative leaders have agreed on state operation of the computers and hookups with the tracks. Still under discussion are such things as the type of bets to be accepted by local off-track betting parlors.

—Higher education. Rockefeller submitted, then withdrew legislation calling for a total of $18 million in aid to private colleges through a combination of programs. His staff is reported they hope to retain some funds to be working on a program in reserve so as to provide for that would contain more money a tax cut this year. They look for Bundy Aid, which grants for an elimination of the 2 1/2 funds to private colleges according to the number of degrees awarded. All of these things cost money, and legislative leaders say the family.

—A communique is to be issued in Washington and Paris later today giving the plans for the meeting.

PARIS (AP) — President Nixon will meet President Georges Pompidou of France in Iceland at the end of the month, informed French sources reported today. The two presidents are expected to meet May 31 and June 1, the sources said. Previous announcements from Washington have said that Nixon and Pompidou would meet but that the time and place had not been fixed.

Legislative Candidacy Declared

NEW PALTZ
"My decision to run for the Ulster County Legislature is predicated on the belief that the arrogance of the legislative majority must be challenged if we are to have a good government at a level where millions of dollars pass through public hands," Thomas Nyquist, New Paltz professor said recently in declaring his candidacy to represent new District 8. (New Paltz, Gardiner, Plattekill, Lloyd and Marlboro)

Nyquist, who is employed by State University College at New Paltz, has both the Democratic and Liberal endorsement for his candidacy for one of seven District 8 legislators.
A resident of 62 S. Chestnut Street, New Paltz, he is married and has two children in New Paltz schools. He is chairman of the New Paltz Village Planning Board, a member of the Ulster County Planning Board, served with the Army in the Korean War and is a graduate of Northwestern University.

He is a member of the International Platform Association and is listed in Who's Who in the East and Who's Who Among Authors and Journalists.

Nyquist said that his decision to run for the Legislature is predicated on the belief that there is a need for better communication between the local community and the legislature and that there is a need to bring effective two-party government to our community.

Another Dem Chairman Hopeful

ELLENVILLE Harold Brown Jr., the Town of Wawarsing and Village of Ellenville Democratic chairman, has tossed his hat in the ring for the chairmanship of the Ulster County Democratic Party.

James T. McCordie, present chairman of the party, has announced that he will not seek reelection to the post when the party holds its convention in June.

Brown is a field representative for District Council 37, American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, and has been a Wawarsing Democratic Committeeman for the past 12 years. "Ulster County is wallowing in the depths of a deprived area," said Brown this week in making his announcement, "as the arrogance of the Republican leadership is bent on doing little, or nothing, to improve the conditions of all the citizens of this great county."

"With the proper leadership in the Democratic Party in Ulster County," Brown continued, "great strides can be made in generally improving all conditions for all taxpayers and residents of this area. I think that I have both the background and business acumen to assume the leadership of the Ulster County Democratic Party, and together with our hard-working commit-

Martin Van Buren Mansion To Become Historical Site

KINDERHOOK, N.Y. (AP) — Martin Van Buren, eighth president of the United States, never wanted his mansion turned into a historical shrine. The statesman had hoped the 23-room, gabled home set in a grove of Linden trees would remain a family farm.

But its days of private ownership are now over.

After a settlement reached last Wednesday, Kenneth F. Campbell, the last of its handful of owners, sold the estate to the National Park Foundation for $102,000. It may well become a national historical site, possibly within four or five years.

It passed into federal ownership somewhat by default. Since 1907, state historians have been urging the Legislature to buy the Columbia County estate where Martin Van Buren settled in 1840 after losing a re-election bid to William Harrison.

But the legislature, because of the price and apparently little public interest, rejected bill after bill and the estate, Lindenwald, remained a private residence.

Campbell, an automobile dealer, bought the estate in 1957 as a retirement home. Under his ownership visitors were welcomed to the carriage house but were discouraged from visiting the mansion.

"At first, we adopted a policy of turning people away who wanted to visit the house... Finally we allowed the really serious ones inside" at $1 a head, he said.

When the National Park Service takes over the site, visitors should have an easier time.

Warren H. Hill, who will administer the park, said a "master plan study team" of Park Service architect, historians and landscapers has inspected the property and come up with a $2.3-million, five-year plan for reconstruction and operation.

Emphasis will be on restoring the house and surroundings to their 1840s condition as well as accommodation of visitors, Hill says.

Commercial Fertilizer Shortage

CASTLETON - ON - HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — Most seasons Jim Webb plants sweetcorn on 1,000 acres of his Rensselaer County farm. But this year he may have to sow only half that acreage because of a nationwide shortage of commercial fertilizer.

Early in April, Webb says his fertilizer supplier told him "he could guarantee me all I could take in two weeks, and beyond that, he couldn't guarantee any."

Now, Webb has stashed away roughly half the 400 tons of fertilizer he will need for the season. And it cost him $6 above the old price of about $60 a ton for the brand he uses.

Although others disagree, Webb says that "somewhere along the line, it's going to have to be absorbed by the housewife."

Peter Oskam, who says fertilizer accounts for too small a percentage of farmers' costs to effect food prices, does agree with Webb about the shortage of fertilizer on the market. Businessmen and state officials offer various theories for this condition—shortage of phosphates, a dearth of boxcars that normally carry fertilizer shipments, the closing down of some chemical, fertilizer-producing plants because of pollution and the Mississippi floods which have hampered transportation along the normal "fertilizer" route.

The executive director of the Albany County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, Edward Arnheiter Jr., believes farmers can absorb a fertilizer price increase, but he points out that the problem is magnified when considered in relation to other price increases that the farmer must face.

Australia Taking Action Against France

CANBERRA (UPI) — Prime Minister Gough Whitlam announced today that Australia will take legal action against France in the International Court of Justice to block further nuclear tests in the Pacific.

Whitlam told the House of Representatives that scientific reports established clearly that the French tests had contaminated the Australian environment with radioactive fallout.

As a result, Whitlam said, his government will initiate legal action against France in the International Court at the Hague.

"These reports," Whitlam said, "establish clearly and conclusively that the testing of nuclear weapons in the Pacific by France has resulted in fallout of radioactive material on Australia and the contamination of the Australian environment.

"The reports establish that the people of Australia may have been adversely affected," he said. "Therefore, we are initiating proceedings against France in the International Court of Justice."

He did not say what specific action he would request.

The action came after a new furor over French plans to conduct more nuclear tests at the Mururoa atoll, 800 miles southeast of Tahiti and about 2,200 miles from the Australian mainland at its closest point.

Health Group Considers 'Mini-Clinics'

TOWN OF CLINTON "Mini-clinics" for blood pressure, urinalysis, and hemoglobin tests, are being considered by the Clinton Health Committee.

Mrs. Jean Schmitt, R.N., will speak on the mini-clinics at a meeting of the Clinton Senior Citizens, but the committee noted that all residents would be welcomed at the clinics if the need warrants their adoption.

Meeting at the home of Mrs. Horace Kulp, president, the Health Committee learned that the April Well-Baby Clinic was well attended and that another has been scheduled for Wednesday, June 27, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the Clinton Town Hall in Schultsville. Any parent whose infant needs a monthly checkup may attend or may take her child to the clinic held on alternate months in Stan-fordville. The clinics are for the benefit of pre-school children not under the regular care of a physician. They are sponsored by the Dutchess County Department of Health and a pediatrician is always in attendance.

The loan closet inventory scheduled for Monday, June 4, has been postponed until Monday, June 11, due to the Memorial Day observance. Any resident in need of emergency sick room supplies may contact the committee.

Planned parenthood clinics are now held at the Nurses' Residence of Northern Dutchess Hospital in Rhinebeck on the third Wednesday of each month.

A committee report disclosed that 14 volunteers participated in the recent Amblyopia (lazy eye) Clinic at which 76 children were tested.

Eight committee members are attending the Federated Meeting of Health Committees meeting today at Altamont, Millbrook.

Judge Aldrich to Attend Dinner

RHINEBECK Dutchess County Judge Raymond E. Aldrich Jr. will be guest speaker at a testimonial dinner for recently retired Rhinebeck Village Police Justice William Pollard May 16. Judge Aldrich's father, former Justice Raymond Aldrich, administered the Pledge of Allegiance to William Pollard when he became an American citizen more than 50 years ago. Other guests will share their memories with the honored guest.

Reservations are still available for the dinner, according to Town Justice DeWitt S. Gurnell.

Judge Pollard recently completed 20 years of public service to the Village of Rhinebeck. First, as mayor, he was active in promoting Community Day programs and village parks. As Police Justice, said Gurnell, "he practiced justice with mercy, but when need be could take a firm stand in ordering severe punishment. His decisions were upheld by the Supreme Court, and his fellow justices elected him president of the Dutchess County Magistrate's Association."

Among the guests anticipated include many of his fellow judges, law enforcement officers, members of the VFW of which he was a member, and Rotary and Chamber of Commerce members.

Those interested in tickets may contact Emmett Donahue, toastmaster; John Marks, village trustee; or Judge Gurnell or Herman Tietjen, as well as the town and village clerks. Dinner will begin at the Beekman Arms at 7:30 p.m.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full"—no starvation—because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home.

This is honestly a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $3.00 ($3.25 for Rush Service)—Cash is O.K.—to: Jorma Products Co., P.O. Box 578, Cardiff-by-the-Sea, California 92007. Don't order unless you expect to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do!

Police Recruits ... Shapely Women

EDITOR'S NOTE — Women working for a master's degree in law enforcement aren't exactly new, but in Beirut they're putting together a force that could be the female equivalent of the FBI. The shapely recruits have law degrees, carry the rank of lieutenant and will be trained at Scotland Yard.

BEIRUT (AP) — Six shapely police recruits, quick on the draw and deadly with a karate chop, are the latest apostles of women's lib in the Arab world.

Lebanon's Security Chief, Col. Antoine Dahdah, says the girls are the first members of a force which eventually will number 500.

They are not the first women police in the Arab world. Jordan and Bahrain have them on traffic and clerical duties. But the Lebanese girls will handle "more sophisticated" work, says Dahdah.

All are university graduates with law degrees, they carry the rank of lieutenant and will complete their training at Britain's Scotland Yard. All speak Arabic, French and English.

Until they fly to London, they are becoming well-versed in the arts of self-defense, including pistol shooting, judo and karate.

"We intend to equip them to face any eventuality, no matter how tough that may be," said Dahdah.

"In several aspects of security, women can be more useful than men," said Dahdah's assistant, Ziad Sultan. And he didn't mean in the spy world of latter day Mata Hari.

"They will undertake internal intelligence duties but I don't think we'll be using them for counter-espionage," he said in an interview.

The girls are 100 per cent in agreement with the view that they are as effective as men.

"This is a challenge and we've accepted it," said dark-eyed Heyam Abu-Saad. "Men may have more muscles, but we have brains, patience and feminine intuition."

"I'm confident we are going to make a success of this," said a 25-year-old Heyam Sabella, who, in her spare time, is working for a master's degree in law.

"We will show Lebanon and the world that women are as efficient as men — only more so."

After a session of target practice, in sky blue track suits, the girls chatted about their new job.

"I can knock a man down, but I hope I never have to resort to violence," remarked Yasmin Ismail. "I think our job is to give help, not to oppress. I hope I can get wrongdoers to respect the law by addressing their minds and emotions."

The rigors of their training have so far done nothing to detract from their feminine charms or feminine aspirations.

"Of course, I want to marry an intelligent man and have children," said Rabiya Khayami, "but this job means we are getting rid of old taboos and entering the 20th century like the women of other advanced countries."

Conservation Day Planned

RED HOOK

The Red Hook Board of Education has designated May as Conservation Day in all schools within the district, since April 27, so designated by Education Commissioner Ewald Nyquist, falls during spring vacation.

The Board has endorsed the goal "that a student upon leaving the educational system has a set of values that leads him to accept his responsibility toward his natural surroundings and views the primary role of man as being a participant in, rather than a master of, his natural surroundings."

All staff members have been asked to plan programs for observing Conservation Day that will help to impress upon students a lifelong acceptance of personal responsibility for the environment, according to a statement by District Principal Russell Keefe.

DEPARTMENT OF ENVIRONMENTAL CONSERVATION
In the Matter of the Application of ROLLING MEADOWS WATER CORP. for Water Supply Application No. 6277.

PUBLIC NOTICE
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, pursuant to Section 15-1503 of the Environmental Conservation Law, the Department of Environmental Conservation will cause a public hearing to be held in the Hurley Town Hall on the 23rd day of May, 1973 at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of that day for the purpose of hearing all persons, waterworks corporations, municipal corporations or other civil divisions of the State of New York that may be affected by the execution of the plans of the Rolling Meadows Water Corp. for the acquisition and future operation of the existing interconnected facilities of the Elmendorf Water Co., located in the Town of Hurley, Ulster County, and for the continued supply of water from the present sources of the two systems, plans for which have been filed with the Department of Environmental Conservation at its offices in Albany and in New Paltz, New York, where the same are open for public inspection; and for the purpose of determining whether said plans are justified by public necessity, whether they provide for the proper and safe construction of all work connected therewith, whether they provide for the proper protection of the supply and watershed from contamination or provide for the proper treatment of such additional supply, whether they are just and equitable to the other municipalities affected thereby and to the inhabitants thereof, particular consideration being given to their present and future necessities for water supply, and to the legal damages to persons and property, both direct and indirect, which will result from the execution of the plans or the acquiring of such lands.

All persons, waterworks corporations, municipal corporations or other civil divisions of the State of New York, other than the applicant, who have objections to the execution of said plans or wish to be heard either in favor of or opposed to such plans, in order to be heard thereon, must file a notice of such desire to be heard in writing and in duplicate in the office of the Department of Environmental Conservation, Bureau of Water Regulation, Albany, New York 12201, on or before the 14th day of May, 1973. Any objections so filed must particularly specify the grounds thereof.
In the event that no notice of appearance in opposition to the proposed plans is filed within the time specified, the Department is authorized by statute to dispense with the Public Hearing; and to proceed to examine and examine the petition, maps, plans, proofs and arguments submitted in support of the proposed plans, and to make the determinations and decision as required by statute. If the hearing is dispensed with, due and timely notice thereof will be given only to the applicant and to any person who has filed a notice of appearance.

A thoughtful investment.

Perhaps you've been looking at various ways of putting money away for a youngster's future. Have you considered a custodial savings account, with its tax advantages?

A custodial account provides a better way than most investments of making money grow. Unlike the stock market, for example, its growth depends solely on you. And, unlike insurance, it earns an excellent rate of interest — at Heritage, the highest interest rate permitted for banks by law. And this interest is tax-free for you as guardian.

These accounts are available at any time for the benefit of the young people through their early years. Then, at age 21, the accounts automatically become theirs, to provide for their future and stand as a reminder of your wisdom and foresight.

Makes sense, doesn't it? Come in to Heritage and discuss how a custodial account can help you achieve your aims. It's a wise and thoughtful investment.

'Women's Rights' Highlights Session

SAUGERTIES A discussion of "Women's Rights — Its History and Issue" highlighted the recent meeting of the Saugerties Democratic Club. The speakers for the evening were Marcia Hanna and Anne Litwin of the Woodstock Women's Health Collective. Maurice Hinchey Jr., Town of Saugerties Democratic chairman, said at the meeting that State Sen. Richard Schermerhorn has introduced a resolution, which, according to Hinchey, if passed would reverse the State Legislature's resolution in favor of the Women's Rights Amendment. "But this should not really surprise us," said Hinchey. "Senator Schermerhorn has always displayed a marked ability for marching in the wrong direction."

Also at the meeting, club chairman William Marchetti introduced four Democratic candidates for the Ulster County Legislature elections in November: incumbent Richard Thornton, S. Morrow Decker, David Menzies and Frank Sinnott.

Betrothals, Weddings

Croce - Civile Nuptials

Marite M. Croce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Russell Croce of Modena, became the bride of George D. Civile, son of Mr. and Mrs. Settimo Civile of Roselle, N.J., on Saturday, April 28, at St. Charles Borromeo's Church in Gardiner.

The Rev. Michael Gillece officiated at the double ring ceremony. A concelebrated Nuptial Mass was offered by Father Gillece, the Rev. George Reinheimer and the Rev. Robert Moore.

The bride wore a floor length gown of angel peau styled with an A-line skirt trimmed with Alencon lace. A chapel-length mantilla served as her headpiece and she carried a bouquet of phalenopsis and stephanotis.

Linda Croce, sister-in-law of the bride, and Anna Croce, sister of the bride, both of Modena, served as matron and maid of honor, respectively. Attendants were Evelyn Croce, sister-in-law of the bride; Theresa Croce, Barbara Croce, both sisters of the bride, all of Modena. Bernadette Croce of Modena served as junior attendant.

Robert Corredine of Middle Village was best man. Ushers were Thomas Hurley of Roselle, N.J.; Fred Broun, Elizabeth, N.J.; Craig Renn of Kingston; and Ferdinand Croce of Modena.

A reception was given at Villa Nueva in Plattekill.

The bride, a graduate of Our Lady of Lourdes High School in Poughkeepsie, and Ulster County Community College, Stone Ridge, is employed by F. D. Croce and Co., Inc., of Modena.

Her husband, an alumnus of Roselle Catholic High School, Roselle, N.J., UCCC and Newark State College, Union, N.J., is employed with Viking Corrugated of New Paltz.

After a wedding trip to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania, the couple will reside in Kingston.

(Conway's Portrait)

Reid-DeLuca

Miss Janice Anne Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Reid, 2805 Swede Road, Midland, Mich., and Jules J. DeLuca, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. DeLuca Sr. of Kingston exchanged nuptial vows on Saturday, Apr. 7.

The marriage ceremony took place in Chapel of the First Baptist Church, Alexandria, Va., with the Dr. Vernon Davis officiating.

Maid of honor was Miss Nancy Syckle. John DeLuca Jr. served as best man, and Glen Reid was an usher.

A reception was held in the Washington Room of The Hall of Presidents at Holiday Inn, Virginia.

The bride is a graduate of Midland High School, Michigan, and Weaver Airline Personnel School, Kansas City, Mo. She is employed as a secretary by the Department of Justice, Washington, D.C.

Her husband is employed as a radio technician for the Department of Justice in Alexandria, Va. He was graduated from Kingston High School and served four years with the U.S. Coast Guard.

When Mr. and Mrs. DeLuca return from a wedding tour of the eastern states, they will make their home at 5633 Derby Court, Apartment 221, Alexandria, Va.

Ward-Canelli

Eileen Ward of 125 Del Balso Boulevard, Wappingers Falls, became the bride of Albert Canelli, son of Mrs. Edward Fenton of Kingston and Louis Canelli of East Chester, on April 13 at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Edward Van Tassel, 32 Greenville Farms Road, Poughkeepsie. Justice Abraham Banner officiated. A reception took place afterwards.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown, 62 Hooker Avenue, Poughkeepsie.

Attendants were Mrs. Richard Simmons of Poughkeepsie and Burnley Hills of Kingston, grandfather of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Canelli, a graduate of local schools and Poughkeepsie School of Practical Nursing, is employed in the spinal cord injury unit of Veterans Administration Hospital, Castle Point.

Her husband, a graduate of East Chester Schools, is employed by Craig House in Beacon.

Mr. and Mrs. Canelli are residing at 125 Del Balso Boulevard, Wappingers Falls.

Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Pflum of Cramer Road, Rhinebeck, announce the engagement of their daughter, Jo Ann, to John J. Mataski, son of Mrs. John J. Mataski of 2 Knollwood Road, Rhinebeck, and the late John J. Mataski.

Miss Pflum was graduated from the Academy of St. Ursula, John A. Coleman High School, and Berkley Secretarial College in White Plains. She is employed in the Accounting Office of Leonard Rachmilowitz, Certified Public Accountant.

Mataski, a graduate of Rhinebeck Central School, attended Dutchess Community College and served two years in the U.S. Army. He is employed by Dutchess County Department of Sealers of Weights and Measures. A September 1 wedding is planned.

Federated Garden Clubs Hold District Meeting

GARDEN CLUBS MEET—The Federated Garden Clubs of New York State, Third District, met in the Kingston Holiday Inn April 26. Among those attending were (l-r) Mrs. John Maybee, second assistant; Mrs. Everett F. Bennett, district director; Mrs. Kenneth B. Robinson, state president; and Mrs. Clyde Deavers, first assistant. Mrs. Robinson told more than 200 attending members that the 20th annual symposium will be held June 5-7 in Buffalo and the State Fall conference is scheduled for September 17-19 in Cooperstown.

DESIGNS FOR DINING expressed the meeting's theme "It's Spring." Five table arrangements and four capsule arrangements were discussed by the eight individual arrangers. Mrs. Carl Anderson of Red Hook stands next to one of the settings. The Woodstock Garden Club received a Gold Seal for a Standard Flower show and a prize in the Sears Environmental Improvement Contest. Ulster County hosted the district meeting with Mrs. George Scherrer as county chairman. (Freeman photos by Haines)

MRS. H. HENRY STALEY of Rhinebeck, chairman of World Gardening, presented CARE Citations of Appreciation for membership support of the program, sponsored by the National Council of State Garden Clubs. Mrs. Staley offered an "out of print" book to the district club which does the most for the project during the next two years. The book is "One Thousand Flowers of the World."

Bazaar Scheduled At Coleman School

The Parents Association and the Student Body of John A. Coleman High School are busy these days preparing for the second annual Bazaar to be held at the school property on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, May 18-20.

Because of the success of last year's bazaar, it was decided to make this event an annual affair. During the last few months, much preparation has taken place to make the spring social an outstanding event on everyone's social calendar.

Bazaar hours will be 6 to 11 p.m. Friday; noon to 11 p.m. Saturday; and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Coleman School is fortunate to have ideal facilities for such an event since activities can be held indoors as well as outdoors in spacious comfort. Refreshments galore will be served continuously and at moderate prices. Games for young and old will be held throughout the three-day period. Homemade articles will be available for sale. Special features of entertainment will be offered for every member of the family. Among the many highlights will be the presentation of a trip for two to Bermuda or a cash award.

One of the most rewarding parts of last year's successful event was the cooperation of parents, faculty and administration working together for the benefit of the school. According to the chairman, the same spirit of dedication is being demonstrated again this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Sal Castiglione, president of the Parents Association, have announced the following committee assignments: chairman: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mayone, Mr. and Mrs. Sal Castiglione; coordinator: Mr. and Mrs. Don Hastings; adult booths: Mr. and Mrs. Lou Sapp, Mr. and Mrs. John Sanguine; food: Mr. and Mrs. Bob Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Lawrence; children's program: Mr. and Mrs. Pete Schell; student activities coordinator: Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rappolt; administration: Mr. and Mrs. Bob Rolf, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Albany; fund raising: Mrs. Betty Weishaupt, Mrs. Alice Albany, Mrs. Ann Sickler; publicity: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bailey.

The public is invited to attend the Bazaar and enjoy good family entertainment while supporting a worthwhile institution.

Arts - Crafts Show To Be Family Treat

The Arts and Crafts Festival at State University of New York at New Paltz on Sunday, May 6, promises to be a family outing. From noon until 6 p.m., the entire family can browse, buy, and learn how specific items are designed and constructed. More than 75 artists and craftsmen from all over will exhibit and demonstrate their crafts on the New Paltz campus.

Demonstrations of leatherwork, weaving, jewelry, bone carving and glassblowing are among the activities anticipated throughout the day.

Sculpture, painting, pottery, needlework, candles, jewelry, ceramics, carvings, flutes and handmade clothing are among the various forms of arts and crafts that will be exhibited and on sale.

In addition to the art exhibition and sale, there will be a circus production, carnival rides and a visit by Senator George McGovern.

Visitors to the show, which is free and open to the public, should set aside a few hours to cover the exhibition area at their leisure. The show is being sponsored by the Student Government Association of SUNY at New Paltz.

Further information concerning the fair can be obtained from Shelly Field, College Motor Inn, New Paltz.

KHS Choir Concert Planned May 11

A concert by the Kingston High School Choir will be presented in the KHS Auditorium on Friday May 11. Concert time is 8:15 p.m. The featured work on this year's program is "From A Child's Garden Of Verses," a cappella number by Houston Bright. It is a delightful setting by a master of the contemporary choral medium of Robert Louis Stevenson's sensitive reminiscences of ideas and places remembered from childhood.

The second half of the program will be devoted to selections such as "Come Saturday Morning," an arrangement of "Kites Are Fun" and a medley of songs from the Broadway musical "No, No, Nanette."

This year's program has something for everyone. Tickets may be purchased from any choir member or at the door.

DEAR ABBY: We are retired. As a child my husband was kicked around, didn't have much education, but Bernie schooled himself and became a very big business success. We have no money problems, but I have a big problem with Bernie.

He has decided that he is a "performer." He has had no musical training, but now he tries to play the mouth organ by just blowing in and drawing out. He doesn't wait to be asked, he carries the mouth organ everywhere, and offers to play. He is simply terrible, but people don't know how to discourage him.

We recently went to a party and Bernie held the floor for 45 minutes attempting one song after another. It was dreadful. I was so embarrassed I couldn't hold my head up. Meanwhile he fancies himself a natural talent.

I have a feeling people are looking at us sideways. I asked Bernie not to play in public until he learns a few numbers, but he blew his top and said, "Everyone else thinks I'm great. You're just jealous."

Dear Abby

He reminds me of a man we both knew who had a good voice when he was young, but in his later years his efforts to entertain were pitiful. When he died I heard people say, "Well, now we won't have to listen to 'Shanty Town' anymore."

How can I handle this? I love him, but he won't listen to me.

BETTER HALF IN ARIZONA

DEAR BETTER: If you can't enlist Bernie's best friend to tell him the truth about his "talent," and he continues his compulsion to share it, urge him to practice and hope he improves, and try to prevail upon him to make his performances brief.

DEAR ABBY: My husband isn't an alcoholic, but after he's had a few he gets very generous and starts giving away things. (His cufflinks, expensive pens and pencils, even the necktie he is wearing.) He practically forces things on people, some of whom he hardly knows.

Some folks realize it was the booze talking, and the next day they will return whatever he's given them. But most people just keep it.

Is there a solution to this problem?

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Yes. Sobriety.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I live on the same street with my in-laws, and since we have the same last name, the Post Office is constantly getting our mail mixed up. When my mother in law gets our mail by mistake, she opens it and reads it. Then she brings it over. She knows all our business before we do.

I told my husband to tell his mother to quit opening our mail, but he doesn't want to start a fight. Don't tell us to ask the Post Office to be more careful. They have every excuse in the book from mail sorters who can't read, to addresses they aren't able to make out. Sometimes I think they do it on purpose. What should we do?

NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: Since your husband doesn't want to irritate his mother, a Post Office box might be a good investment.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

Rondout School District Election

Voters Approve $5.64 Million Budget

KYSERIKE Voters of the Rondout Valley School District Wednesday night approved a $5.64 million budget for the coming year, returned two incumbent school board members to office and elected a former board member and president to the third vacancy. The budget for the 1973-74 school year, up 7.4 per cent from this year's figure, won approval by a 640-588 margin as 1,283 of the district's 2,042 eligible voters turned out for the election. Board members said the budget increase was minimal considering the economy in general, and was not proportional to increases in other districts in the area. Mrs. Clara Margaret Booth led eight candidates in the free-for-all election for the three board vacancies, polling 658 votes to win her second three-year term on the board. Horace Sarr of High Falls, who served on the board from 1966 to 1972 and was president in 1972, finished second with 635 votes. Mrs. Ann Coler of Stone Ridge, the other incumbent, won the remaining place with 561 votes and will begin her second three-year term on July 1 along with the other newly elected members. Trailing were Charles Ludlow of Accord (497); Harold Slater of Kerhonkson (317); Lawrence R. Matson of Accord (315); William Lenard of Kerhonkson (304); and Robert Lohfeld of Accord (229). The board election was the first held since district voters eliminated district voting last year. Voters also approved (619-607) a proposition authorizing purchase of two 15-passenger school buses at a cost not exceeding $12,500 and another (632-594) authorizing purchase of a 66-passenger bus at not more than $12,500.

Onteora Recount Demanded

BOICEVILLE and 396 for Rudy Hopkins, a Marlborough to $153.53. The former teacher in the district, budget increase over this year Mrs. Britting has requested the recount. In the race for the seat now held by Douglas Gross, who did not seek reelection, Howard Lewis won, polling 1072 votes to Richard Odenwald's 634. The Sheehan-Britting recount will be taken today, according to District Clerk Charles Knipple. In the district breakdown, Mrs. Sheehan polled a large majority in the Shandaken-Lexington district, and a one-vote plurality in Olive-Marbletown and Hurley. With the passage of the budget, the district's estimates based on available figures show the tax rate in Woodstock going up to $40.60 per thousand of assessed valuation, in Olive to $215.18, in Hurley to $134.48, in Shandaken to $93.55, in Lexington to $71.64, and in drinking or culinary purposes.

Boil Water Notice The Halcottsville Water Supply has been placed on a boil water notice by the Albany Regional Office of the State Health Department. The Health Department has taken this action because bacteriological samples collected at Halcottsville indicate the water does not meet the New York State drinking water standards and is of an unsafe sanitary quality. Residents using the Halcottsville Water Company water are instructed to boil water to a rolling boil prior to use for drinking or culinary purposes.

DID YOU HEAR THE ONE ABOUT THE TRAVELING SALESMAN WHO GOT A FREE HIGHWAY EMERGENCY KIT WITH HIS NEW CAR LOAN?

"That's a very beautiful emergency kit," said the traveling salesman; "it certainly would be a handsome addition to the new car I'm planning to buy."

"Well," replied the Chase Manhattan loan officer, "anyone who takes out a new car loan from Chase between May 1st and June 30th gets one of these kits free."

The traveling salesman did not want to appear too anxious in front of the banker. "Is it practical?" he asked.

The banker smiled, opened the luggage-like carrying case and began describing the contents.

"An aerosol fire extinguisher, good for all types of small fires, even electrical, oil or grease."

"An aerosol tire inflator, with a latex sealer that inflates and seals flat tires in less than a minute."

"An emergency blinker with a large suction cup base that you can position on your car top or the roadside. It's visible for miles."

"A high-intensity spotlight with a 12-foot cord that plugs into your cigarette lighter."

"Eight-foot booster cables. Six-foot gas siphon pump. A first-aid kit complete with a 25-page first-aid book."

The salesman was amazed. "And you're giving this away? Free? Why it must be worth at least $19.95 retail!"

"Exactly," answered the banker. "You have a good eye for value. Were you ever a banker?"

"No," said the salesman, "I work for a living."

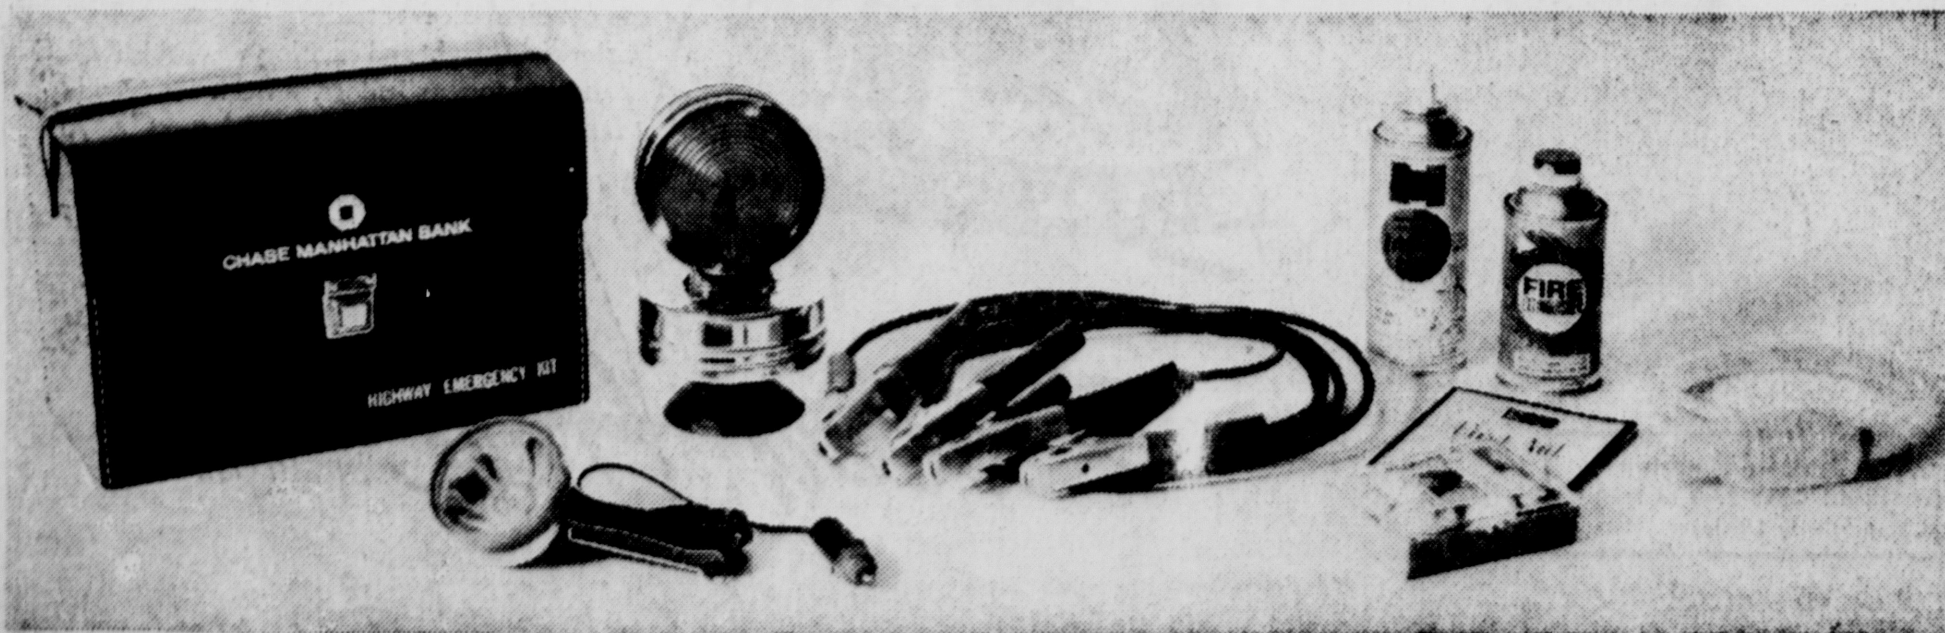

The banker did not laugh. Oh, he was friendly enough, but after all!

"There's only one problem," said the salesman. "I may not be able to pick out the car I want before June 30th."

So the banker told him that if he signed up now, Chase would reserve his car loan for 100 days at no charge. Not only would he get his free highway emergency kit as soon as the loan was approved, but he'd have plenty of time to shop around for a good deal on a new car. So the salesman signed, and left the bank convinced that this was the best car-loan deal he had ever experienced.

If you're a traveling salesman, doctor, painter or anybody looking for a practical, worthwhile free gift with your car loan, we hope this particular traveling salesman story will make you smile—all the way to our bank.

Little Quickness Buried Russians

By PETE HERRERA
ALBUQUERQUE (UPI) — Wednesday a little quickness can do the job just as well. Cousy started three forwards against the tough Russians in the third game of the current six-game series and the Americans responded with an 83-67 runaway win.

"We decided to go with the three smaller forwards instead of a big center to try to get more finesse," said Cousy. "I don't know if that's what did it, but we're going to try it again Saturday in Indianapolis."

Cousy's decision to bench UCLA muscleman Sven Nater and start forwards Ron Behagen, Fred Saunders and Bobby Jones, enabled the American team to fast-break the Russians into submission.

"We had to make an adjustment after our loss Monday and Behagen, Jones and Saunders gave us more offense inside," Cousy said.

The victory was the second by the Americans, both of them by convincing margins. The Soviet Union won came at San Diego Monday, 78-76.

Behagen, the slick forward from Minnesota, got all 18 of his points in the first half when the United States broke the game open with a 14-2 tear midway through the half.

North Carolina's Jones and Providence guard Ernie Digregorio took up the scoring slack in the second half, each pumping in 16 points.

The Russians managed to cut the Americans' 44-31 halftime lead to 50-41 with 17 minutes left in the game before the United States pumped in 14 straight points to win going away. Jones and Digregorio got 10 of those 14 points.

Digregorio repeatedly found the range from outside in the second half and triggered the American fast break.

The Providence guard credited the inside play of Behagen, Jones and Saunders for the victory.

"We got a chance to free-lance more and Behagen and Jones really took it to the basket," he said.

The Russians, forced to play without star center Alexander Belov, who suffered an injury in the San Diego game, got a 31-point effort from guard Alexander Salnikov, but he was the only Russian starter to score in double figures.

The two teams will meet in game four of the series Saturday in Indianapolis.

Shawangunk Planners Withholds Phase Approval

WALLKILL — The Town of Shawangunk Planning Board, following a public hearing, withheld approval of Phase II of Wallkill Valley Acres subdivision, pending certification on frontage of six of the parcels in the 53-acre development along with approval from the State Department of Environmental Conservation that the town's sewage disposal plant has the capacity to service the proposed development.

New District... No Opposition

PLATTEKILL — The Ulster County Legislature is expected to approve a 3,530-acre agricultural district in Plattekill Gardiner following Tuesday night's public hearing chaired by Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago where no opposition was voiced to the proposal.

The public hearing, held at the Plattekill Firehouse, lasted about 40 minutes with 19 persons in attendance, most of them county or town officials. In addition to Savago, three other Legislators were in attendance: Philip Davis (R-11), James Palen (R-9), and Louis Bevier (R-8). Davis is chairman of the Agricultural Advisory Committee of the County Legislature. Other members of

Attended Seminar

Michael M. Aronica, director of occupational education of Ulster County Board of Cooperative Educational Services attended a seminar on School Finance at Cornell University recently. The seminar was jointly sponsored by the Cornell Institute for Occupational Education and the Office of Occupational Education of the New York State Education Department. The program dealt with the skills and understandings necessary for the use of limited financial resources in the development and effective implementation of secondary school programs of occupational education.

Memorable Year in Olive

TOWN OF OLIVE Residents of Olive waited 150 years for their sesquicentennial and are giving every indication that no effort will be spared in making it a memorable year.

Town Historian Vera Sickler reported at Tuesday night's town board meeting that a "Night With Alf Evers," the noted historian, was "a gigantic success" on April 28 at the Olivebridge Firehouse. Evers gave a review of the township's history.

Along the same lines, May 28, Memorial Day, will be according to town officials, "one of the largest celebrations" ever held in the township, commencing with a parade at 9:30 a.m. in Olivebridge with floats, bands and numerous marching units. In the afternoon, activities will shift to the Lester Davis Memorial Park in West Shokan featuring the Saugerties Bagpipers, Bavarian dancers, two bands from the Ontario High School and an Indian village complete with dancing, cooking and crafts. Memorial Day activities are open to the public at no charge.

Church services will be held in Olivebridge on May 27 with details to be announced.

The Town Board also received a letter of commendation from the Ontario School District citing Mrs. Sickler for her historic presentations to children in the district.

In other action, Michael Jives was appointed chairman of the Assessment Board of Review and will serve a three-year term.

Mrs. Thomas Giacalone was appointed to a two-year term on the same board, replacing Irving Hesley who had resigned. Hesley was commended by the Town Board for his services to the Assessment Board of Review.

The Board also gave Supervisor James Glemming authorization to sign a $5,000 yearly contract with the Olive First Aid Unit to service the township. The unit started regular service on March 1 and has had 23 calls to date. There are 26 active squad members.

The Board also voted to expend $1,959 for a new voting machine.

Town Cleanup Day, as requested by the Ulster County Legislature, was set for May 19; in addition the township will hold cleanup days on May 18 and May 21. May 19 will also be a recycling day.

Supervisor Glemming proclaimed the month of May as Senior Citizen Month in the township. Olive Senior Citizen president Edward Gille was on hand to thank the town board for its action.

AFS Exchange Students to Visit County

RED HOOK Thirty-four American Field Service foreign exchange students who have spent the past year in Nebraska will spend several days in the Northern Dutchess County area in July, according to the Red Hook and Rhinebeck chapters of AFS.

The 34 foreign exchange students will visit the area before leaving for their home countries. Among the activities scheduled for the students are tours of the Roosevelt estate in Hyde Park, the IBM complex in Kingston and a visit to the Old Rhinebeck Aerodrome.

Persons interested in hosting one of the students during their brief stay in the area should contact Mrs. Charles Rider in Rhinebeck or Mrs. Ralph W. Pulver Jr. in Red Hook.

Musical Set at Poughkeepsie

POUGHKEEPSIE The musical "Ms. Mame" will be staged by Estelle and Alfonso at Poughkeepsie High School June 2 and 3, according to an announcement from Walter Biscardi, president of the Mid-Hudson Regional Ballet Company.

Director will be Joseph Vincent Towers, who received a masters rating from Marist College Theatre Guild. While attending the college he was a member of Delta Psi Omega.

Nurse Training

Training of nurses' aides for duties in nursing homes and in general hospitals will be the topic for a seminar at Dutchess Community College May 5. Open to administrators, nurses, and aides, the morning seminar is being sponsored by the college's Office of Continuing Education in cooperation with the Dutchess County Society for Mental Health. Involved in instruction will be Professor John Demenokoff, chairman of the DCC Department of Health Technologies; Assistant Professor Carl Danti of the college's Behavioral Sciences Division; and Mrs. Patricia Reed, an official with the New Paltz Nursing Home.

Your Horoscope

Friday, May 4

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The daytime gives you a chance to use your cleverness to put your affairs on a higher plane. You can gain the good will of all with whom you have business dealings. The afternoon finds some obstacles that require self-control.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Keep occupied during the morning contacting others for constructive purposes, but spend the evening reading and enjoying the quiet at home. Do your shopping early. Get a good night's sleep.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study your financial position and see what should be done to add to present income. Obtain ideas from banking expert that are helpful. Engage in favorite recreation tonight, but watch the cost.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) See what you can do to have a happier personal life. Plan to see your close friends more often. Engage in a new hobby now could bring great satisfaction. Make plans for the future.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Much studying and thinking can now help you gain the things you want the most. Obtain good ideas from experts.

Follow your intuition which is good. Take it easy tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Being with good friends to gain your mutual objectives is fine now. Don't ask for any special favors tonight. Get the information you need at a social gathering. Study it well.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Making plans with bigwigs about a civic affair is fine but make sure you do nothing to jeopardize your reputation. Buy whatever appliances are necessary to make your job easier. Relax tonight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Engage in a new outlet that is appealing and through which you can increase your income. Making new allies is wise, but make sure they are the right ones. Postpone an important decision.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Make sure you handle all home affairs in a most conscientious way and get right results. Your hunches are good now and should be followed. Using good judgement tonight is vital.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Any arguments with an associate should be discussed in a reasonable way for best results. Be sure to handle an important civic matter in the afternoon. Make future plans tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Handle all that work with vim and vigor and it will soon be behind you. Take health treatments in the afternoon. Start shopping today for new apparel you want. Express more happiness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are thinking clearly now and can accomplish a great deal, especially in the field of entertainment. Put those special talents to work and commercialize on them. Do more reading.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have an opportunity to improve situations at home and should waste no time in doing so. Listen to the advice of others and follow the best. Get the new appliances that are necessary.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those delightful young people who will develop the ability to whittle ideas down to practical value and make them profitable. The inventor in this chart and the education should be directed in such directions. Teach to finish whatever has been started. Being discriminatory where playmates are concerned is wise.

"The stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

ANOTHER GIRL: (Q.) Every night I pray that this dude will talk to me next day.

He calls me once in a while (not very often). He tells me he watches me a lot and sometimes is tempted to talk to me, but that my back is always turned toward him and I act as if I don't want to be bothered with him.

I don't see where he gets that idea, because I am dying to talk to him and he knows it.

He spends most of his time with another girl. He walks home with her nearly every day. She stares at me when she sees me. I stare back at her. —Hurting in Washington, D.C.

(A.) This boy knows you like him. If he liked you more than he likes the other girl, he would give you more of his attention. He seems to like to see you upset.

IGNORE HIM and his girl friend. Stop watching them. Turn your attention to some other young man.

NO SHOW: (Q.) My boy friend is really a nice guy. When we are together he couldn't be any sweeter to me. I only have one complaint: He is always telling me he's coming to my house to see me, but he never comes.

Both my parents like him and have invited him to come. He says he is coming, and he says when, but when the time comes he doesn't show up. The next time I see him he gives me an excuse.

The first time I believed the excuse, but after the third or fourth time I started to wonder. What do you think happens to him. Does he chicken out? Or What?—Confused in Massachusetts.

(A.) "Chicken out" is not a kind expression. I would say your boy friend's nerve fails him. I would say that he and you must be young—maybe 12 or 13—and having a girl friend is new to him.

The next time he talks about coming to see you, invite him to walk or ride home from school with you. Or ask him to let your mother and you come to pick him up.

I am confident, once he actually comes to your house and discovers that it is just like other houses, he won't have any trouble getting there again.

3-Count Charge Against Nixon Finance Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 10, 1972, three days after the mission (SEC) with "looting" report within five days of contribution to the Office of Federal Election Campaign Act went into effect.

The law requires disclosure of major contributions and expenditures. The maximum penalty on each count is a $1,000 fine.

Vesco is under investigation by a federal grand jury in New York. He already has been charged in a civil suit by the Securities and Exchange Commission, failed to make a Vesco's donation—given during the SEC inquiry—was returned by the committee after the November election. The committee has denied that it violated the law.

The government charged that the Maurice H. Stans, finance committee, acting through Sloan, failed to report the financier's unsuccessful attempt to take over a bank in Lebanon. Mitchell later headed Nixon's re-election campaign.

The committee said Wednesday that it did not report Vesco's campaign contribution on the advice of attorneys. A spokesman said that under the law a "contribution" also constitutes a "contract, promise or agreement" — indicating that Vesco's donation had been promised before the reporting law went into effect.

Trial Judge Seeks More Facts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Pentagon papers trial judge has directed attorneys to give him legal briefs today on dismissal and mistrial motions and raised the possibility that the case may never go to the jury for a verdict.

U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne has said he will not allow jurors to begin deliberations until he probes all facts about a burglary of the office of codefendant Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist and alleged White House involvement in prosecution of the case.

Byrne also demanded that the government give him more details about the alleged roles of Watergate conspirators G. Gordon Liddy and E. Howard Hunt Jr. in the burglary and in a special White House investigation of the leak to news media of the Pentagon papers.

Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo, both former researchers on government projects for the Rand Corp., are charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft for copying the Pentagon papers, a top secret study of U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

Byrne says he wants more information on the Liddy-Hunt operations in order to determine whether those actions interfered with the defendants' constitutional rights to a fair trial. Byrne has expressed fears that "tainted evidence" obtained from the Liddy-Hunt work might have been used in the prosecution.

Byrne has stressed an urgent need to find out what papers were found in Hunt's White House office and safe when they were searched by the FBI. But the only documents rendered by the government Wednesday were three FBI reports on recent interviews with Ehrlichman, in his second

White House aides John D. Ehrlichman, H. R. Haldeman and Bruce Kherli.

Ehrlichman's interview added only sparse details to a previous interview. Haldeman and Kherli professed no knowledge of Hunt's and Liddy's role in any White House probe of the Pentagon papers case or Ellsberg. They also said they don't know where reports from Wednesday were three FBI reports on recent interviews with Ehrlichman, in his second FBI interview since reports of the 1971 burglary surfaced last week, said he believes "there must be papers covering investigation of Daniel Ellsberg" by Liddy and Hunt.

Ehrlichman said in an interview made public Tuesday that he knew about the psychiatrist's office burglary and of Liddy and Hunt's effort to produce a psychiatric profile of Ellsberg to show the defendant had "moral and emotional problems." Ehrlichman said the conspirators worked for the White House at the time.

Of the latest interview with Ehrlichman, conducted Tuesday, the FBI reported, "It has been over a year . . . since Mr. Ehrlichman has seen anything on the Pentagon papers investigation . . ."

"Mr. Ehrlichman maintained a newspaper clipping file on the Pentagon papers case which he kept in a file cabinet. This file has since been sent to the President's file, however, and Mr. Ehrlichman assumed the material was now in 'archives.'"

McGovern Lauds Congressional 'Bravery'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. George McGovern has applauded "the bravery and tenacity" of those in Congress, the courts and the press "who have given our system a few shining moments of vindication during the Watergate scandal."

The Watergate affair, the South Dakota Democrat said Wednesday, "is not, as the President seemed to imply, typical of the political process. Our politics is better than that. And Watergate is worse than the tactics of any national campaign in my memory or modern times."

Last year's Democratic presidential nominee told the American Society of Newspaper Editors: "I take no satisfaction from this sad affair. Indeed, since the election last November, I have repeatedly refused to respond to press inquiries about Watergate."

"And I take no joy today from the President's difficulties. With him, I hope they will be resolved soon so that he and we can fight out the future on other, better issues."

ASNE President J. Edward Murray of The Detroit Free Press told the convention: "Watergate looks like President Nixon's Waterloo in his long war with the free press. For the press, certainly, Watergate is a watershed, demonstrating to our generation, at least, the indispensability to the nation . . . of unfettered investigative reporting."

McGovern said he knows of "no direct evidence . . . to implicate Mr. Nixon in the planning of political espionage or the subsequent obstruction of justice. Like all of you, I hope he was not involved. He denies that he was—and I, for one, must believe him."

Presidential counselor Anne Armstrong told the editors: "Yes, we were wrong on Watergate. This group was very instrumental in proving we were wrong . . . You have pursued the Watergate situation in a very productive way under often-difficult circumstances."

Now, she said, the press must be "aware of its responsibility to not only report the news but to respect the traditional safeguards of our judicial system which are designed to protect the rights of the accused."

April Food Prices Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale prices of farm products and most foods went down in April after five months of sharp increases, but these declines were more than offset by the biggest jump in industrial commodity prices in 22 years, the government said today.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said that despite a 0.7 per cent drop in the price index for farm products, processed foods and feeds, wholesale prices for consumer finished foods went up 1.4 per cent in April after adjustment for seasonal factors.

The lower overall wholesale food prices were led by a 2.9 per cent decline for processed meat. President Nixon placed ceilings on meat prices in March.

The BLS said industrial commodity prices increased 1.4 per cent in April, the largest monthly advance since a 2.1 per cent jump in January, 1951. Industrial commodity prices are considered a better barometer of inflation than the more volatile food prices.

The overall wholesale price index increased 0.8 per cent in April, down sharply from the 2.2 per cent increase in March, 1.9 per cent in February, 1.3 per cent in January and 1.8 per cent in December.

The report came a day after President Nixon, predicting "price increases will probably be higher than we would like for some months," ordered a closer watch on price boosts by big business.

Specifically, he ordered the nation's largest corporations to give the government 30 days advance notice when they want to raise prices by more than an average 1.5 per cent above the level of Jan. 10, the start of the current Phase III stabilization program.

The BLS said the Wholesale Price Index (WPI) in the six-month period ending with April went up at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 17.3 per cent, also the largest since the height of the Korean War in 1951.

Wholesale prices frequently are a harbinger of trends at the retail level.
